This issue of the Rollins Alumni Record pays tribute to the many alumni and friends whose support of the College in 1996-97 helped sustain Rollins' mission of excellence, innovation, and community. It also takes a nostalgic walk through Rollins history, featuring some of the famous people who have visited the campus through the years—notables such as Thomas Edison, Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings, Mary Pickford, James Cagney, and presidents Harry Truman and Franklin D. Roosevelt. The Honor Roll of Donors, too, is a “Walk of Fame,” for everyone who supported Rollins this past year has played a vital role in the life and history of the College.

President Bornstein Elected Independent Colleges Chair

Rollins College President Rita Bornstein was elected chair of the Independent Colleges and Universities of Florida (ICUF) at its meeting Thursday, May 22.

ICUF represents the interests and concerns of the state's independent higher education institutions. The 23 member institutions serve the educational needs of almost 50,000 Floridians, who represent more than 70 percent of the total enrollment of those schools. ICUF schools collectively rank as the 22nd largest employer in the state.

In 1995, the Florida Council of 100, the State University System, the Community College System, and ICUF formed the Business/Higher Education Partnership to generate a strategic plan for the future of higher education in Florida.

Dr. Bornstein has been president of Rollins College since 1990, and was previously vice president of the University of Miami. She has served as a member of the Board of Directors of the National Association of Independent Colleges and Universities, chairing its Government Relations Committee, and is currently completing a term as a member of the Board of Directors of the American Council on Education.—LRH

FACULTY BRIEFS

At the commencement ceremony June 1, three Rollins faculty were awarded the 1997 Arthur Vining Davis Awards: physical education's Gordie Howell, Margaret McLaren of the philosophy/religion department, and mathematical sciences' Richard Vitray. The Davis Awards are presented annually to faculty who have made significant contributions to the educational process at Rollins as well as to the cultural, economic, and social community of Central Florida.

Congratulations also are in order to those retiring faculty who were elevated to emeritus status during the commencement ceremony: economics associate professor Wayne Hales (26 years), art associate professor Hallie Hallam (31 years), physical education associate professor Harry Meisel (34 years), psychology professor James Upson (28 years), and English professor Jean West (25 years).

Last July, chemistry professor Erich Blosssey presented a paper at the Gordon Research Conference on "Reactive Polymers, Ion Exchangers, and Absorbents." His paper was the first presentation of work resulting from the department's Summer Research in Chemistry program, which began at Rollins three years ago. Erich says most participants were amazed to learn that many of the polymers mentioned in the paper were synthesized by Pawel (Paul) Nowicki '97 just after his first year at Rollins. Also of interest to participants was the amount of support and encouragement the summer program has received from Rollins and various private foundations, he says.

Nancy Cruce, an assistant visiting professor in the Graduate Studies in Counseling Education program, gave a presentation last July at the 11th Annual Summer Workshop for the Development of Intercultural Coursework at Colleges and Universities. The title of her presentation was: "Majority Culture Identity Development: A Model for Ending Racism on Campus and in the Workplace."

Crummer professor Ralph Drtina received the Certificate of Merit at the Institute of Management Accounting annual conference for his article, "Designing and Implementing Effective Team Measures." Ralph's article will be published in the Institute's journal, Management Accounting.

Last May, 28 students in Crummer's Executive MBA class made their week-long International Study Trip to Edinburgh and London. While there, they visited several British factories and interviewed key business leaders. Accompanying the students were EMBA director Craig McAllaster, coordinator Gale Amyx, Roland Ruble, and Crummer professors David Currie and Jack Trifts. Building the Future

Poised to serve as the focal point of the Rollins community, the new Cornell Campus Center is already bustling with activity. August witnessed the demolition of the Alfond Pool bleachers and Rose Skillman Hall. A new pool house sits astride the Alfond Pool, supplanting the old locker rooms, and all that remains of the "Beanery" is the floor slab and the kitchen area. Scheduled for completion in August 1998, the new facility will include a building to be constructed on the foundation of Skillman Hall, two patios, and a partially renovated Mills Memorial Building.

The offices of the Dean of Students, Dean of the Faculty, and Registrar have been relocated to the renovated first floor of the Mills Memorial Building in an effort to centralize student services in the new Campus Center. Career Services has moved to Carnegie Hall.

The Thomas P. Johnson Student Resource Center occupies part of the second floor of Mills, combining a number of previously scattered services. A one-stop shop for students seeking assistance, the Johnson Student Resource Center includes the Writing Center, the Quantitative Learning Center, and the Academic Resource Center. The academic advising program also will be coordinated from Mills.

"These changes don't accomplish everything, but they constitute a major step toward integrating all services for the undergraduate Arts and Sciences College," said George Herbst, vice president and treasurer.

Located at the geographical heart of the campus, the $8.25-million Campus Center will also serve as the College's primary social gathering place.

"The north-side patio will really unite Mills and the new building and serve as a central focus of the campus. And, given the climate, it will be a very nice area for outdoor gatherings," said Herbst.

The building erected on the foundation of Skillman will feature the College's new cafeteria, "The Marketplace," an ATM machine with 24-hour access, a central campus information desk, a student lounge with big-screen television, three dining rooms with lake views, an e-mail bar, the C-store, a grill, the Student Activities administrative offices, and state-of-the-art conference rooms.

The College also broke ground on the 11,000-square-foot lakeside Olin addition in August, which should be completed by June 1, 1998. The main floor of the new addition, along with 7,500 square feet of renovated space in the existing library, will house the Olin Electronic Research and Information Center. Complete with video conference rooms, computer labs, and classrooms equipped with the latest in information technology, the facility will be open to students, faculty, and staff 24 hours a day. The Olin addition also will contain the Archives and the College's extensive government document collection. The project is made possible by a $2.5-million grant from the Olin Foundation—the second in Rollins history.

Also in the works is further development of the Park Avenue Project. Although the project is still under governmental review, the College has passed the major hurdle.

"The major step was changing the city's comprehensive plan to accommodate a building that exceeded the zoning restrictions on height—the type of building we feel to be both appropriate and necessary to make the project economically feasible," said Herbst.

The new building will cost approximately $15 million and will provide 80,000 square feet of net leasable space, about a third of which will be devoted to retail on the ground level, with the remaining two thirds used for office space. The governmental approval process should be completed by October, with construction starting in the early spring of 1998. Major tenants will be announced in the near future. The architecture of the building and its adjoining 600-car parking facility will be consonant with the Park Avenue village aesthetic.

In the meantime, the College continues to raise funds for the Harold and Ted Alfond Sports Center. "The project is through the schematic phase and the architectural work awaits the completion of fund raising. During this year we will be working on a timeline, and, since it's our top priority, we will be looking for ways to accelerate the project," said Herbst.

Work on the Crummer Executive Education Center (14,400-square-foot addition to the west side of the Crummer building) also has passed the schematic and budgetary phases. "A decision is imminent as to when to proceed with further architectural design," said Herbst. "We are actively working on the project and foresee construction in the near future."—SLB

Dear Rollins Donors:

You have done it again! Your gifts to Rollins during the 1996-97 fiscal year broke the record for contributions to the College during a single year. More than 5,600 alumni, friends, parents, foundations, and corporations contributed a total of $10.68 million for a variety of purposes, surpassing last year's total giving to the institution by 14 percent.

Your support was especially important this past year, as we embarked on the first year of our ambitious five-year comprehensive campaign to secure $100 million in new resources. The Campaign For Rollins will help sustain the College's rich tradition of excellence for future generations of students by providing the funds necessary to accomplish many of our top-priority goals.

These goals include increasing the endowment for faculty chairs, student scholarships, and academic programs, as well as the renovation and expansion of key facilities. I am pleased to report that, as of the close of the fiscal year, our donors had committed more than $62.1 million to the campaign effort, a testament to your loyalty and vision.

I want to call special attention to the success of The Rollins Fund because this was indeed a most unusual year for the annual giving program. The 1996-97 goal of $1.85 million was the highest annual giving goal in the College's history. Despite the fact that a number of donors chose to redirect more than $300,000 of their unrestricted annual support to specific campaign projects, you—our alumni, parents, and friends—came through for the College, and we achieved the goal.

We are truly grateful to you for your Rollins Fund participation at all levels, for as you know, unrestricted gifts make it possible for us to uphold the highest standards of excellence for our students and the other constituents we serve. Meeting our operating budget while pursuing other ambitious fund-raising initiatives would prove impossible without this support.

We at Rollins College are proud to be associated with such a generous and committed group of supporters. Because of you, we can all have confidence in the success of The Campaign For Rollins, and in the future of this great college.

Sincerely,

Rita Bornstein, Ph.D.
President

A Word From Frank '52 and Daryl Stamm Barker '53

National Co-Chairs of The Rollins Fund

Like many of you, we remember fondly our student days at Rollins. Although 40 years have passed since strolls across campus, meals at the Beanery, and study sessions with friends were part of our daily routine, Rollins continues to occupy a special place in our memories and in our hearts. For this reason, we welcomed the opportunity to serve our alma mater this past year as national co-chairs of The Rollins Fund, and it has been one of the most rewarding experiences of our lives.

Every year, Rollins alumni, parents, and friends are asked to dig into their pockets a little more deeply than the year before to help the College meet its ever increasing need for annual unrestricted support, and every year you come through like champions. Throughout the past year, we have been privileged to get to know many of you better as we worked together to make 1996-97 yet another in a long succession of record breaking years for The Rollins Fund.

Thanks to the tireless efforts of dedicated volunteers and the generosity of our loyal donors, the College met its annual giving goal of $1.85 million for the 1996-97 fiscal year, making this the most successful annual giving campaign in Rollins history.

Once again, alumni led the way, contributing more than $1 million to The Rollins Fund for a remarkable fourth consecutive year. Even more dramatic is the fact that overall alumni participation reached 32.5 percent!

Parents' support of The Rollins Fund this past year was also extraordinary. The parents campaign raised an unprecedented $254,697, exceeding the goal by more than $34,000. We want to say a special word of thanks to Tom '70 and Ruthy Lawrence du Pont '70 for their outstanding work as co-chairs of the Parents Committee; and we especially want to thank all of our parent volunteers and donors who contributed so generously of their time and financial resources.

Without a doubt, this first year of The Campaign For Rollins has been one of significant achievement for The Rollins Fund. Congratulations and thanks to all of you who contributed. It is heartwarming to know that so many others whose lives have also been enriched by Rollins share our affection for this remarkable institution.

We are proud to have co-chaired The Rollins Fund during this history-making year, and we look forward to steering the campaign again during the challenging year ahead.

REUNION GIVING

As the years sneak quickly past, days of strolling around the horseshoe, well-played games, and endless classes seem farther and farther away. But as they say, "absence makes the heart grow fonder," and Reunion has always held special meaning for Rollins alumni. This Reunion year, even if their paths did not bring them back to campus, many alumni demonstrated their love for the College through gifts to The Rollins Fund. Three classes in particular distinguished themselves among the Reunion years.

The Class of 1937 came from behind to steal the cherished Class Participation Award from the Classes of 1942 and 1947. Celebrating its 60th Reunion, the Class of 1937 had the highest percentage participation in the class gift to The Rollins Fund with an amazing 61 percent. The Class of 1942 was a close second with 55 percent participation, while the Class of 1947 came in third with 53 percent participation.

Receiving the Class Gift Award for the largest Reunion gift to The Rollins Fund this year is the Class of 1972. This class, celebrating its 25th Reunion, contributed a total of $46,055. Special thanks go to Stan Gale, Bert Martin, and Bob Selton for their key leadership roles in this victory.

The Class of 1982 received the Young Alumni Class Award for having both the highest class gift and highest participation rate among the three youngest Reunion classes. With the help of Cynthia Harper-Plunkett, the Class of 1982 raised a total of $10,535 and received 28 percent participation.

Thank you to all alumni who participated in making Reunion '97 special.

Founders' Week 1930: (l-r) Thomas A. Edison is greeted by Dean Winslow Anderson, President Hamilton Holt, and Dean Charles A. Campbell

WALK OF FAME

Bibb B. Allen, Jr. '97

Warren A. Wegner Scholar

The future looks very bright for Bibb B. Allen, Jr., one of three Warren A. Wegner Scholarship recipients for the 1996-97 academic year. A biology major who graduated from Rollins this past May, Bibb will head south to Miami this fall to begin four gruelling years at the University of Miami Medical School. "When I first got accepted [to medical school], it was a big relief; now there's only fear," he said.

But Bibb won't soon forget his Rollins days. He experienced a little bit of everything at Rollins, from playing basketball his junior year to tutoring fellow students in biology his senior year. Along the way, he enrolled in elective theater classes and discovered a welcome diversion from the rigors of his science courses. "I had so much fun," Bibb recalled with enthusiasm. "It was a nice break from biology. Rollins has such an excellent theater department. Everyone should take advantage of it." He also sings the praises of Rollins' low student-to-teacher ratio and the personal attention given to him by his science professors.

Along with crediting his professors for his success, Bibb also credits the donors to the Warren A. Wegner Scholarship Fund. "The scholarship money was much-needed and enabled me to finish my education at Rollins," Bibb explained. "Thanks very much to all of you who contributed."—KAP '95

WALK OF FAME

Starry, Starry Night

Hattie Wolfe and Jesse Lirette

Hamilton Holt board members, alumni, and friends gathered in May for "Starry, Starry Night," a glittering first-time fund-raiser that netted $45,000 for scholarships to Rollins' evening degree program.

Under the stars of a balmy evening, more than 200 people chatted, watched stilt walkers and strolled among displays of silent auction items at the festively decorated Winter Park Farmers' Market. Later, they enjoyed a casual buffet supper and a spirited live auction of items that included jewelry, art, and fine wine.

"The event took on a very warm, hometown feeling and everyone had a good time," said Hattie Wolfe, chair of the board's special events committee. "We had two purposes: to provide scholarships and to make the community aware of the Hamilton Holt School, which more people should know about. It was a great event for the community and the school."

Wolfe and committee members, Patricia Heidrich, Frances Demetree-Dasher, and Carolyn Franz, worked tirelessly collecting auction items donated by local companies. AT&T co-sponsored the event along with radio station WLOQ-FM and television station WFTV-Channel 9. —LKP '91MLS

T. Kermit Dell '45

Rollins College is one of the outstanding schools in the South, and I think it is important to do everything we can to continue that tradition."

Though his speed earned him a football scholarship, T. Kermit Dell '45 spent eight years finding his way to Rollins from the Midland City, Ala., farm where he grew up. One of 11 children, Dell left home at 13, in the midst of the Depression, to avoid putting financial pressure on his mother. He hitchhiked south to Miami. Having no family in the area, Dell was eventually taken in by a family in Pahokee, where he played football and earned his high school diploma.

Now the owner of Kerlu Tree Farms in Delray Beach, Fla., Dell roots his success in his experience at Rollins. "Rollins opened up my life," he said.

Teaching high school science, coaching football, and founding the 2,000-acre Dell Farms are among the many branches of a storied career. Nevertheless, Dell fondly remembers working as a waiter at the Beanery to help pay his way through college.

A staunch advocate of scholarships, Dell feels it is important to make Rollins accessible to all. "Rollins College is one of the outstanding schools in the South, and I think it is important to do everything we can to continue that tradition."—SLB

Bertram Martin Jr. '72 '73CR

“I wanted to make it easier for people from middle-income backgrounds to come to Rollins.”

Bertram Martin Jr. '72 '73CR recalls his undergraduate years as a stimulating balance among academics, athletics, work, and social life. In homage to the liberal arts ideal, Martin distinguished himself as president of the X-club; varsity crew member and co-captain; Algernon Sydney Sullivan Scholar; Chapel staff president, usher, and speaker; O.O.O.O. member; and resident adviser.

“I wasn't overly focused on any one or the other,” said Martin. “Rollins gave me the ability to balance several different interests as a way of increasing the quality of life.” Currently the chief operating officer for an innovative surgical supplies company and a prominent civic leader, he certainly seems to have mastered that ability.

The former Rollins Alumni Association president, alumni trustee, and chairman of the Florida Independent College Fund remains committed to higher education. One of his goals is to ensure that a Rollins education is accessible to middle-income families. For this reason, Martin established the Warren Wegner Scholarship in memory of a close friend and Rollins classmate.

“Most of the kids I talk to have been working two jobs trying to meet their tuition payments, while their parents have mortgaged their house as far as possible,” he said. “Middle-income families struggle to find that $3,000 to $8,000 difference between what they can afford and the cost. Warren came from a middle-income background and struggled to afford Rollins, but went on to do very well after college in building a successful career in the banking business. I wanted to make it easier for people from middle-income backgrounds, like Warren, to come to Rollins.” —SLB

FAME

A. Reynolds '89H and
Eleanor Reese Morse '35

I have always felt I owe a debt to the College for the progressive education I received and the marvelous connections I made with professors and classmates.”

—Eleanor Morse '35

A. Reynolds '89H and Eleanor Reese Morse '35 met Dali and his wife Gala at the St. Regis hotel in April of 1943, igniting a lifelong friendship between the two couples. Since that meeting, the Morses have become world-renowned Dali experts and art collectors, donating their private collection, the largest in the world, to the people of Florida in 1982. The donated paintings constitute the collection currently housed in the Dali Museum, St. Petersburg, Fla.

That same spirit of philanthropy and passion for art have characterized their relationship with Rollins. The couple recently donated $150,000 toward the expansion of the Cornell Fine Arts Museum. The gift will fund the construction of a tower lobby and gift shop in the expanded Cornell Museum. In 1989, the Morses donated to the museum their collection of the works by M.P. Shiel.

“I have always felt we owe a debt to the College for the progressive education we received and the marvelous connections we made with professors and classmates,” said Mrs. Morse. —SLB

Russell Troutman

"If you're the kind of person who tithes your income for the betterment of your community, then what better way to support your community than by educating tomorrow's leaders?"

When Russell Troutman decided to take a history course through the Hamilton Holt School—Rollins' evening studies program—18 years ago, he had no idea the experience would blossom into a decades-long experience. That fortuitous decision has made all the difference...for him and for Rollins.

"After finishing up my term as president of the Florida Bar Association in 1978, I was looking around for other opportunities," Troutman recalled. "I had an interest in history, so I took Jack Lane's course in 'American Constitutional History.' The rest, I guess you could say, is history."

Troutman currently serves as chairman of the Holt School's Board of Advisors and serves as an adjunct instructor, teaching a course in organizational law. However, it is his involvement with the Scholarship Committee that holds special meaning for Troutman.

"Students in the Hamilton Holt School are dedicated students," he said. "Many of them are working, they have family responsibilities, and many missed the boat the first time around by not following up with college immediately after high school. Helping students like that gives you the greatest satisfaction because they really want to learn."

During the past decade, Troutman has contributed generously to the Holt School Scholarship Fund, and his scholarships have supported a dozen students. He says he receives satisfaction from knowing he has made the difference for students who need the financial support to realize their dreams.—LRH

Peter Powell
'77 '78CR

I was raised in an environment that taught me to appreciate and remember the people and experiences that have given value to my life."

Peter Powell '77 '78CR, President of Builders Sand Company and BSC Holdings, has covered a lot of ground since graduating from Rollins. The sand, salt, and mulch produced by his multi-million-dollar operation are distributed throughout the Midwest.

Powell returns to walk the grounds at Rollins on a regular basis. "Every time I've visited Rollins, from my first tour of the campus to my most recent reunion trips, I've always been met with that same spirit of friendliness, openness, and warmth. Rollins is an excellent social environment," he said.

Active in Phi Delta Theta and the Annie Russell Theatre as a student, Powell says he learned as much outside the classroom as in it. "Rollins is a total experience. I believe that an important part of college is learning to interact with a variety of personalities, mastering people skills. The Rollins environment is conducive to learning these skills that are so important to succeeding in business."

"I had a great experience at Rollins," said Powell. "I was raised in an environment that taught me to appreciate and remember the people and experiences that have given value to my life. And when the call comes to give, I am happy to.

"Besides," he added with a laugh, "the better the school becomes, the better that sheepskin looks!"

"The idea of such ceremonies began a millennium ago at the University of Bologna in Italy," said English professor Socky O'Sullivan, who, for the past 14 years, has served as Rollins' "college marshal," the person who directs the ceremony.

BY LARRY R. HUMES

Every year at Commencement, a sea of black-and-white-clad graduating seniors fills the Enyart-Alumni Field House. For the first time in their college career, the students are dressed in "uniform." The powerful emotions of graduation day are accentuated and given form by the rituals and pageantry of the ceremony. Few know the significance of the faculty's colorful garments or almost liturgical rite of procession, which is connected to a thousand years of tradition.

Success

"The idea of such ceremonies began a millennium ago at the University of Bologna in Italy," said English professor Socky O'Sullivan, who, for the past 14 years, has served as Rollins' "college marshal," the person who directs the ceremony. "Many of the customs and procedures we follow today relate back to some of those early ceremonies."

The academic costume was imported from England (notably Oxford University) in the 1700s and worn at Colonial colleges such as King's College (now Columbia University) and the University of Pennsylvania. In 1886, in honor of Harvard University's 250th anniversary, faculty and students all wore academic gowns. Eight years later, a controversy erupted at the University of Michigan as to whether students should wear commencement regalia. The debate was put to a vote and those in favor prevailed.

Rollins' first commencement ceremony was held at 10 a.m. on Thursday, May 29, 1890 in Knowles Hall. Both graduates, Clara Louise Guild and Ida May Missildine, gave brief presentations as part of the ceremony. The graduation program actually concluded four days of events, which began the previous Sunday with a baccalaureate sermon by the College's first president and the pastor of the founding Congregational Church, Dr. Edward Hooker. Florida Governor F.P. Fleming presented an address the following night, and an Italian string band from Jacksonville performed a concert on Wednesday night.

At Rollins, students did not begin wearing commencement gowns until the 1920s. In the College's early years, men were expected to wear nice suits while the women wore white dresses and carried bouquets of flowers. Ceremonies at the turn of the century were held at the Congregational Church.

"Following the Civil War, American schools became a bit more formal as they followed many of the customs of their European counterparts," said O'Sullivan. "Since everyone was pretty much doing their own thing, however, a nationwide conference was held at Columbia University in 1895 to develop standards all schools could follow. The result was the Academic Costume Code, which established specific guidelines on what to wear and how to wear it." An article in Rollins' student newspaper, The Sandspur, later that year pointed out that the College was in violation of the code since its gowns were in the school's blue and gold colors instead of black. The article pointed out that the code was not binding, "But with such a side-step from custom, it is surprising that Rollins has not gone all the way and abolished academic costumes completely." The College later acquiesced and switched to the conventional black robes.

In 1959, the American Council on Education published a companion document called the American Ceremony Guide, which provided guidelines on procedures for conducting commencement ceremonies. These guides still serve as the academic standard today and are followed by most of the nation's 3,000 colleges and universities.

In America, the hood is the most outstanding feature of the academic costume. O'Sullivan says that originally, the hood supposedly served three uses: as a head covering, as a shoulder cape, and when hanging from the shoulder, as a bag for alms. The colors sewn into the inside of the hood represent the colors of their alma mater while the trim along the edge of the hood signifies their discipline.

During the Middle Ages, universities throughout Europe used a great deal of independence in designing their own apparel, O'Sullivan said. The gowns worn by faculty were patterned after religious robes since many members of the faculty in those days were clergy. And there are at least three schools of thought on the origin of the traditional mortarboard. "One group believes it represents the solidarity of the classes, symbolic of the craftsman's mortar board used to 'cement' the various disciplines," he said. "Another believes its shape is symbolic of a book, while a third group believes it represents the 'quad,' around which college campuses were historically built."

"In each case, the disciplines have picked colors representing their field of study," he said. "The color of theology, for example, is scarlet, which represents the blood of Christ. White, representing the arts & sciences, symbolizes truth and purity. And for agriculture, the color of maize is supposed to symbolize corn."

The commencement ceremony, to a large degree, reflects the tastes and style of the president, O'Sullivan says. "Ceremonies during former president Thaddeus Seymour's presidency tended to be more formal. He designed his own commencement gown. President Bornstein enjoys the ceremonies and during her tenure, they have become a bit more relaxed. She wears a special medallion during the ceremony, which bears the College's logo and was created by a Rollins graduate. The links suspending the medallion represent the College's links with its past."

O'Sullivan says the actual ceremony at Rollins has evolved over the years. "At one time, the students marched around the Horseshoe as part of their procession into the Field House, but the practice was eventually dropped. About 10 years ago, at the suggestion of political science professor Rick Foglesong, we began the practice of the 'gauntlet,' in which the students form two lines outside the Field House. The faculty and dignitaries then march between the lines, offering the students an opportunity to offer their final 'farewells' before becoming official graduates of the College."

The president of the faculty leads the procession, followed by the College president and platform guests, the faculty, and finally, the students. Selected students carry colorful banners representing each of the four class years. Banners representing previous classes hang from the Field House rafters. In addition, students carry in the procession four flags: the American and State of Florida flags, the flag of the Congregational Church, which founded the College in 1885, and the Rollins flag.

O'Sullivan says he believes students really enjoy the ceremony, particularly the "hooding" portion when each student's name is announced as they receive their hood and degree.

"Everybody's excited. There's a lot of enthusiasm and energy flowing," he said. "The students realize that we're not only honoring them for all of their hard work, but also we're honoring their families for the sacrifices they've made. Everyone gets caught up in it. I remember one year, one of our faculty who was serving as a marshal for the first time was so excited, when the president announced that the ceremony was over, she motioned for the students to follow her out of the Field House, ahead of the faculty and platform guests. It's easy to get caught up in the pageantry of it all."

Aside from the occasional downpour, problems associated with commencement are rare. O'Sullivan says those occurrences, however, usually fall into three categories:

"First, there's what we call the champagne problem. Graduates will try to sneak in a bottle to start the celebration early. We inform them ahead of time that all beverages will be confiscated and donated to the custodial staff, so that usually takes care of the problem.

"The second problem is what we call the 'beach ball' problem where over-enthusiastic graduates like to bounce a ball over the heads of the crowd. There are occasional outbreaks of this problem, but they're quickly contained."

O'Sullivan said the third problem falls into the category of protests where students try to use the ceremony to make their own personal statement. "For example, one year, a fraternity turned their backs on a particular administrator as they walked past her. Another group chose to demonstrate their solidarity by wearing shorts and flip-flops to the ceremony. They were given about 15 minutes to return wearing appropriate dress if they wished to march."

During the past 22 years, O'Sullivan has directed or participated in more than 42 commencement ceremonies at Rollins. During that time, he has missed only one graduation: in 1996, he attended the graduation of his son at Cornell University. What keeps him coming back, year after year?

"It's fun," he replied with a smile. "Most of it involves administrative details, making sure everybody is where they are supposed to be and does what they're supposed to do. My job, and that of the many marshals and staff who make this happen each year, is to keep people moving and to head them in the direction they need to go. It's the largest and most important ceremony that occurs at Rollins. Everything that occurs during a student's four years at Rollins builds toward this moment. That's why we spend a lot of time attending to the details and making sure each commencement is a memorable event. It's a memory they will cherish the rest of their life, and we do everything we can to make that memory a pleasurable one."

Kent Van Allen

My wife and I see Rollins as a college on the move, a college that is continuing to improve its faculty, curriculum, campus, and, consequently, the quality of a Rollins education.”

When Kent Van Allen and his son Charlie '00 started looking at colleges, Rollins was a top recommendation. The Van Allens have vacationed for years at Mullett Lake, Michigan, which Van Allen describes as “a hot bed of Rollins graduates.”

“Jack Myers '69, alumni trustee and former president of the Alumni Association, was a great advocate of Rollins,” he said, “as were his parents, Jack '42 and June (Reinhold) '41. Don and Marilyn Bower, parents of Shannon '69, echoed the Myers' enthusiasm.”

A graduate of Williams College, Van Allen is well aware of the value of a liberal arts education at a small school and needed little convincing. After Charlie enrolled in the fall, Van Allen and his wife, Kay, joined the Parents Committee, acting as liaisons between the College and other parents.

“My wife and I are great believers in supporting excellent liberal arts colleges,” said Van Allen. “We see Rollins as a college on the move, a college that is continuing to improve on the quality of its faculty, curriculum, campus, and, consequently, the quality of a Rollins education. Rita Bornstein is doing a fabulous job as president. For these reasons, when we decide where to devote our resources, Rollins is at the top of our list.”—SLB

J. Roger Bentley '54

“Many years ago, while writing letters to my classmates on behalf of the College, I realized that if everyone in our class gave just $20, we could double the amount that our class gave. That was a revealing fact. It doesn't take much to help in a big way.”

J. Roger Bentley had never visited the Rollins campus, or Florida for that matter. But when his father, who had been doing business with the College since the early '40s, said that Rollins was the place he would go if he were going to college, he decided to follow his father's advice.

A native of Maryland, Bentley found the small classes and conference-style approach to teaching at Rollins very conducive to learning. “Your brain was working all the time because you were constantly on the firing line,” he recalled. The accessibility and individual attention of the professors, he believes, was helpful in developing the problem-solving skills necessary for business and everyday life. “Rollins had a big effect on my life and helped me to learn how to deal with all kinds of difficult people and to see more than one side to a problem.”

A member of the crew team and a chapel guide, Bentley also performed in several plays at the Annie Russell Theatre. After graduating in 1954 with a degree in history, he spent almost 10 years traveling the world as a sales representative in the airline industry. In 1964, he went to work for the family business, American Floor Products Company, eventually stepping into the position of president.

“I think that it is wonderful that we're able to help young people to achieve the possibilities of the future,” he said. “Those who need monetary support should have it available.”—RC

Stanley C. Gale '72

We often take for granted that the school runs on its own, but as you get to know it, you realize that it has ongoing annual needs to maintain the quality. If we don't take the leadership role, who will?”

Stanley C. Gale has never been one to sit on the sidelines. From his days on Rollins' varsity soccer team to his present role as a business and community leader, Gale has always taken the ball and run with it, most recently helping his class achieve the Class Gift Award for his 25th Reunion.

“Alumni need to understand that it's not the amount of participation, but the act of participating that is key,” he said.

A principal and founding partner of Gale & Wentworth, a real estate services and investment firm headquartered in New Jersey, Gale was awarded this year's Alumni Achievement Award in Business and Community Service.

Gale has maintained close ties to Rollins since earning his bachelor's degree in 1972 and MBA from the Crummer School in 1973, both through personal giving, contacting alumni in his area, and participation in soccer reunions.

“Rollins is a critical part of the building block process in any of our careers,” he said. “It's important to recognize the impact it had on us not only at that time, but also years later, and to appreciate the broad base of experience that it has given us for any successes that we've had. Giving back is something I feel really good about. It completes the cycle.”—RC

John Dudley Race '77 '84CR

People support what they believe in, and that's very easy for me with Crummer.”

When John Dudley Race enrolled in the Crummer School in the early '80s, he thought an MBA would look good on his resume, but he wasn't sure it was going to help him in his business career.

“I was pleasantly surprised,” said Race. “The content of the program was right on point with what I was doing. The case-study method is extremely helpful in day-to-day business. It helped me tremendously. I've become a spokesman for the program because I know what kind of results it can achieve.”

After 17 years with SunBank Capital Management, Race left his position as president and chief administrative officer two years ago to form DePrince, Race & Zollo, Inc., a money management firm specializing in institutional pension funds. Already, the company boasts $1.7 billion in assets under their management.

A native of Chicago, Race is a member of the Crummer Board and the Crummer Mentor program. He and his wife, Sandra Smith Race '78, have been loyal supporters of the College, most recently making a special gift for the Crummer Executive Education Center.

“More and more in the MBA arena, the quality of the program is somewhat predicated on the quality of the students you are able to attract. Crummer needs to have the financial ability to attract the best students to lend it additional credibility.”—RC

YOUNG ALUMNI: CLASSES OF 1987-1996 MAKING A DIFFERENCE

When young alumni contribute to The Rollins Fund, it is often a direct reflection of their personal experience during their student days at the College and their continued good feelings for the institution. Remembering fondly a school where the faculty/student ratio was 1:12 and professors soon became friends, where the dining hall was affectionately called Beans, and a fox could cause a mad rush to the beach, they reach into their limited pockets to contribute what they can to their alma mater.

What they often don't realize is the difference they are making. Young alumni are the largest of any alumni group, making up more than 30 percent of the entire alumni population. Their gifts, no matter how modest, are vital each year to the success of The Rollins Fund. This year, 548 graduates from the Classes of 1987-1996 contributed more than $32,000 to The Rollins Fund. The Class of 1987 had the highest level of participation with 22 percent, while the Class of 1991, with 82 alumni contributing to The Rollins Fund, had the most donors of any other recent graduating class. First place for the largest gift goes to the Class of 1990 whose 73 donors contributed a total of $9,243 to The Rollins Fund.

Special thanks go to the young alumni volunteers, who kept their classmates educated and informed on The Rollins Fund and the importance of their gifts.

Rebecca Nannen '93

Think of one friendship you made, one experience you had that made it all worthwhile.”

For Rebecca Nannen '93, making a small contribution each year to The Rollins Fund makes her feel as if she is doing her part as an alumna. “I just want Rollins to know how much I really enjoyed my experience there.”

A theater major and a communications minor, Nannen first chose Rollins because of the theater department's reputation; however, she quickly fell in love with the beautiful campus, friendly people, and small class sizes. “I loved everything about my experience at Rollins. It was a beautiful place to study, I made wonderful friendships, and the liberal arts education opened so many doors.”

Nannen was offered a position in New York with the Broadway Series immediately after graduation, but instead she returned to her hometown of St. Petersburg, Florida, where today she works as supervisor of stores for her parents' pet stores, The Animal House. In her spare time, Nannen enjoys diving, and she has even taken up tarpon fishing.

To other young alumni wondering why they should participate in The Rollins Fund, Nannen had this to say. “Think of one friendship you made, one experience you had that made it all worthwhile. Rollins has made us who we are today, and everything we enjoyed, from the buildings to the beautiful campus, was provided for us by past donors. It is now our turn to support the next generation.”—KAP

President Rita Bornstein and other members of the College community congratulate Fred Rogers '51, creator of Mr. Rogers' Neighborhood, as he lays a stone in Rollins' Walk of Fame, March 8, 1991.

REMEMBERING ROLLINS

The College gratefully acknowledges the thoughtful generosity of the following alumni and other friends who have included Rollins in their estate plans. Some have made unrestricted gifts, while others have designated their legacies for purposes of special interest to them, such as scholarship endowments. All are deeply appreciated. In 1996-97, Rollins received more than $1,800,000 in estate distributions, and more than $2,000,000 in life income gifts.

Alfred T. Child $5,500

Mr. Child studied literature and theater at Harvard University and taught English in the Virgin Islands and in Puerto Rico. He retired to Winter Park and was actively involved in community affairs. He was a member of the Rollins College Cloverleaf Society for more than 10 years and was a strong sponsor and advocate for the College's Annie Russell Theatre. Mr. Child's bequest directed that an endowment fund be established, with income to be used for the benefit of the Annie Russell Theatre.

Jessie E. Drey $1,366,394

Distributions from Mrs. Drey's estate and from her charitable trust are continuing to enhance the Jessie and Eugene Drey Endowment Fund. Income from the Drey Endowment Fund is used to support the exhibits and activities of the Cornell Fine Arts Museum. Mrs. Drey was quite active in community activities and had served on the Cornell Board of Visitors.

George W. Jenkins $400,000

Mr. Jenkins was the founder and former chairman of Publix Super Markets, Inc. Mr. Jenkins was active in all phases of civic affairs and was president of numerous community organizations. He was a long-time supporter of Rollins College and was a generous contributor to The Rollins Fund. His bequest to Rollins College was unrestricted and will be used by the College where the need is greatest to maintain the excellence of the College's educational programs.

Mildred Murphey $10,000

After a career in the insurance industry in Washington, D.C., Mrs. Murphey retired to Winter Park and devoted countless hours to the research of local community organizations. She also had a passion for the theater and loved attending productions at the Annie Russell Theatre. Her generous bequest established an endowment fund, with income to provide continuing financial support for the Annie Russell Theatre.

Kenneth Osborne $50,000

Mr. Osborne had been a friend of the College for more than 20 years. A successful investor, he was a generous supporter of numerous community organizations, including Rollins. He was a long-time member of the Rollins Cloverleaf Society and was a faithful supporter of The Rollins Fund, always using appreciated securities for his gift. His will included provisions for various organizations he supported during his life, and his legacy to Rollins culminated a lifetime of support by the creation of the Kenneth W. Osborne Scholarship.

William Webb, Jr. '39 $1,471

The continuing distributions from Mr. Webb's estate trust were added to the William Webb Memorial Scholarship, which he had established during his lifetime. Mr. Webb's directions were that his scholarship fund be used to assist talented students in the College's Theatre Department. A member of the Rollins College Alumni Association and the Cloverleaf Society, Mr. Webb enjoyed art and the theater, and frequently enjoyed performances at the Annie Russell Theatre.

If you would like to serve on your Reunion class committee, please contact the Alumni Office at 1-800-799-ALUM or 407/646-2266.

REUNION DATES: March 13-15, 1998
Celebrating all classes ending with "3" and "8"

28 Katherine Hosmer's grand-nephews gave her a special 90th birthday party January 5, 1997. Kay lives in Basking Ridge, NJ.

30 Virginia Stelle of Brooklyn, NY, enjoyed a few days on the French Riviera and revisited Monte Carlo and Portofino, Italy. Best of all, she enjoyed being back in Paris to visit with her French friends. Richard "Ozzie" Harris of Mount Pleasant, MI, writes that lawn mowing seems to be his biggest hobby these days!

35 "Rollins has certainly been a family affair for us," writes Olcott Deming. All three children of Olcott and Louise MacPherson Deming '37 (deceased 1976) are Rollins graduates. Rust graduated in '64, John is a '66 graduate, and Rosamond Deming Larrage is a member of the class of '69. Rust's wife, Kristin Bracewell Deming, is a '62 Rollins grad, and their daughter Justine graduated in '85.

39 John "Wes" Dennis attended a memorial service in Asheville, NC, for Jack Justice, who passed away April 2, 1997. Tommy Costello writes that he was saddened by the June 7 death of "Punk" Matthews. In addition to being Rollins classmates, the two attended Boy Scout camp together in the '20s. Tommy, who lives in Lake Wales, FL, has fond memories of his days at Rollins as a cheerleader, lifeguard, and waiter.

44 Elizabeth Adams Foster and husband Forest moved from California to the the Great Outdoors in Titusville, FL—one of three places in the country that allows a motor home/trailer with RV port, carport, and storage for golf carts.

45 Nancy Reid Gunn recently was artist and lecturer at the LeMoyné Art Foundation in Tallahassee. Her preview and lecture was titled "Dialogues: Encaustic Paintings."

46 Betty McCauslin Soubricas stopped by the Alumni Office in late April while on campus for a special presentation of music written by her late husband, Henry. The Carlo Celebration was performed by Rollins musicians in the Rogers Room. Betty's sons, Charles and Christopher Rex, and members of the Carlo family were present for the concert. Betty, who lives in Fairfield, PA, says she has been very busy since she retired. Carlton Wilder's acrylic painting Magus (above) will be offered as a limited edition. The prints will be the same size as the original, 18x24 inches, and each will be signed and numbered by Carlton. For more information, call Marjorie Hansen Wilder '44 or Carlton at 904/284-6044.

47 Ilo Lorenz Elicker enjoyed receiving her 50th Reunion medallion at Reunion '97 and plans to return for Reunion '98.

Reunion Committee: Mary Peters Bucher '49

48 Claudia Hutchinson Clark is living in Rehoboth Beach, DE. She and husband John have 6 grandchildren. Jack and Pris Likely Northrup have departed for a year's journey on their trawler, Desiree, and are pleased they will have no phone until 1999!

50 George Spencer and his wife completed their new home on the campus of Warren Wilson College in Asheville, NC. Both remain active in college teaching.

51 L.D. Bochette hosted a mini-reunion at his home when Jim Imand and his wife were in town for Jim's 50th high school reunion. Attending the mini-reunion were Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Behrens, Mr. and Mrs. Marty Swift, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Thaggard '54, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kelly. It was the first time since graduation that Buddy and Jim Kelly had seen Jim Imand! Fred Rogers was awarded the Television Critics Association Children's Award for his outstanding dedication to the improvement of children's TV. His wife, Joanne Byrd Rogers '50 was in the audience for the presentation.

52 Gordon Clark of Newcastle, ME, has written a novel, The Loyalties of Lt. Hawk, published by Tandem Alley Press.

Reunion Committee: Dave Redding, Tom Nelson, Daryl Stamm Barker

Ray Burchett of Park Ridge, IL, has reactivated Maritime Sales and returned to selling yachts, charters, and other "stuff."

54 Margaret Lawcock Little of Apopka, FL, is preparing for a career change and will devote time to researching and writing material for Sunday school classes. Marty Smith Born '53 and Jerry Faulkner Townsend visited Barbara Bremerman Timberman in the mountains of NC. Marty lives in East Lansing, MI, and Jerry and husband live in Tampa, FL. Barbara is an adjunct professor at Lees-McRae College in Banner Elk, NC. Virginia Darwin Selner, who lives with her family in Cheyenne, WY, is executive director for the Wyoming Coalition for the Homeless.

56 Dave Berto writes that he had a brief get-together with Bruce Lee '54 in NY and that "Bruce hasn't changed at all!" Dave has served 11 years on the city council of Santa Rosa, CA, where he has lived for over 40 years. Irene Drake Callaway is a realtor with Village Belles in Grand Rapids, MI, and would enjoy hearing from Rollins friends.

57 Delle Davies Muller keeps trying to retire but just can't quite do it. She works for her son-in-law, who is a financial counselor and pension fund monitor in Winter Park. Delle has eight grandchildren.

KNOW YOUR ALUMNI BOARD

PATSY BLACKBURN O'NEILL '66

Applying lessons learned at Rollins to education reform

Texas is one of the states leading the nation in education reform through the establishment of 120 charter schools. When a consortium of business and government leaders recently went looking for someone to serve as executive director of their newly created Charter School Resource Center, established to ensure that those schools succeed, the obvious choice was Patsy Blackburn O'Neill '66.

"We believe that these charter schools, because they will be of high quality, will provide competition for all schools in Texas and ultimately provide systemic improvement for education reform," O'Neill said. "We have 3.7 million schoolchildren in Texas, so the challenge is clearly before us."

O'Neill is a person with a full calendar. Not only is she putting together a new support organization from scratch, but she is also completing her first year as a member of the Rollins Alumni Association's Board of Directors. To her, it's a perfect match.

"The close personal attention we received from our professors at Rollins, the opportunity we had to learn by doing, those are some of the underlying principles we're striving for with educational reform today," she said. "In a sense, we are trying to duplicate in our schools many of the lessons we learned at Rollins."

It seems natural that the Homestead, Florida, native ended up working in education. O'Neill's father was principal of a local high school and her mother was a second-grade teacher. She excelled in school and, upon graduation, was offered an academic scholarship to attend Rollins.

O'Neill discovered many opportunities at Rollins, both in and outside the classroom. An English major, she was active in many organizations, such as student government and the Chapel staff, and served as yearbook editor her junior year. She and classmate Cary Kresge '66 both received the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Medallion their senior year for their contributions to the campus community.

O'Neill recalls fondly the influence of such professors as Leah Koontz and Dean Ted Darrah. But it was her special relationship with then-president Hugh McKean she values most.

"I think it was his warmth and his openness and his willingness to listen to what students had to say that made him so special," she said. "The thing that I learned from President McKean and Dean Darrah was the value of humility and being a humble leader. Some of the greatest lessons they taught me were through their actions, by the example that they set."

Following her graduation from Rollins, O'Neill married a friend from home, earned a graduate degree, had three children, and moved the family 14 times during husband John's Air Force career. A few years ago, when her children were at Harvard, Yale, and Rice, O'Neill thought about teaching school. She soon decided, however, that she could make more of a difference working on a larger scale in the area of education reform. She worked for a series of private foundations before accepting her new position.

As a Rollins alumni board member, O'Neill says she would particularly like to help the admission process by strengthening the relationship between alumni and prospective top-quality students. "Now that many of us have been out awhile and have enjoyed some measure of success in our lives, I think the question becomes: What can we give back to humanity and to Rollins? I think one of the things that has made Rollins so special throughout the years has been the high caliber of its students. If we can help build on that tradition, then I think we will have made a significant contribution." —LRH her honor by a group of Spanish playwrights and the event was covered by major Spanish newspapers. Dale Montgomery, a designer with McMillen Inc. in NY, returned from his 41st trip to Amsterdam, where he completed designing the interior of his second 200-foot Feadship. His work has been published in major design magazines and a cover article appeared in AD Brazil. His most recent commission will be featured in the December '97 issue of Architectural Digest. Last year he was interviewed at his NY apartment on CNN International's Style.

61 Desi Csongor of Manchester, MA, hopes all is well with classmates and the Sigma Nu fraternity. Patricia Trumbull Howell-Copp is a realtor with Re/Max in Bradenton, FL. She and husband Norman were chairpersons for RPAC of Manatee County. John Holmes, who has been practicing law in Orlando since 1965, is now doing immigration law and representing international business and U.S.-based businesses in connection with work-related visa matters. He has been "blissfully" married to Mary Ann Baker-Holmes '62MA for three years.

62 Walter Wirth would like to hear from classmates. He is a self-employed personal investor and lives in Tampa, FL. The Cape Canaveral Hospital Foundation Board of Trustees named Tibor Menyhart as vice chairman for a two-year term. Tibor is a member of the Society of the Plastics Industry, Society of Manufacturing Engineers, and Society of Metallurgical Engineers. Silvia DuBois Leth performed in the opera Suor Angelica with the Conejo Valley Opera Theatre. Her three sons (below), whom she took to the Sierra Club as youngsters, all are now mountaineers.

58 Reunion Committee: Susan York Steward
Roberta Marling Morris is an executive secretary and rents out three bedrooms in her home in Danville, CA. She says she has lots more room for alumni visiting the Bay area! Beverly Stein Kievman-Copen of Phoenix, AZ, has been commissioned by a Japanese publishing company to write a book for Japanese women. Beverly was honorary co-chair for Committee of 200, First International Outreach Program in Phoenix, where she lives, and consolidated her retail travel company with a larger agency.

59 Joseph Haraka plans to beat the drums in metro Atlanta for the 1999 Reunion. He would like to hear from alumni in and around Atlanta. Joanne Murphy is director of development for Teach for America, an education non-profit group in Los Angeles. She reports they have had a few Rollins grads in the teacher corps and they were exceptional candidates!

60 Phyllis Zatin was awarded the Sociedad General de Autores y Editores in Madrid for extraordinary work on behalf of Spanish theater in the United States. A special ceremony was held in

63 Reunion Committee: Marilyn Fischer Turner, Barbara Wolcott Aufhammer, Dennis Casey
Allan Lipsky is managing director of the Arbor Greene community, a master-planned community under development in Tampa. Allan will promote the first stages of development.

64 Thomas Chomont works at a corporate and real estate law firm in NYC and makes videos. One of his videos was shown at the Pleasure Dome in Toronto in 1996 and he has films in the archives in Vienna, London, and Brussels. Kathleen Lyons Carlisle is teaching in Seminole County, FL, and enjoys playing golf and riding her toy Sea Doo jet boat in her spare time.

65 Helen Montgomery Farnsworth of Winter Garden, FL, is a pianist, church musician, and composer of sacred music. She would like to share her works and possibly have them published. Emily Klammer McCutchan is a family therapist in private practice in San Diego, CA, specializing in the treatment of families impacted by the HIV disease. Tim and Anita Roncagione Haley report daughter Erin is in OB-GYN residency in Memphis, daughter Kimberly is in medical school working on a master's in anatomy, and son Tim graduated with a degree in X-ray technology, while twins Sean and Kevin plan to study dentistry and psychology, respectively. James Treadway retired from Wall Street in 1994 and he and wife Susan, after 8 years, have almost completed the restoration of their 1770 home in Bedford Corners, NY. James was commissioner, U.S. Securities & Exchange from 1982-85 and chairman, National Commission on Fraudulent Financial Reporting from 1985-87. He is past chairman of the board of directors of Washington & Lee School of Law. Jane Truesdall Johnson moved to Sag Harbor, NY from the Washington, DC, area. Her paintings are currently shown at Rooms & Gardens in NYC and at Nabi Gallery in Sag Harbor.

66 Jerold Gnazzo left his job as head of the State of Massachusetts Registry of Motor Vehicles (to which he was appointed by Governor William Weld in 1991) and, with his wife Jane Santamaria Gnazzo '67, will pursue commercial real estate ventures. Ginny Mendinhall Barden has moved back to Baton Rouge, LA, where she is a full-time student at LSU pursuing an MSW degree. She would like any alumni traveling to south Louisiana to give her a call. Charlotte Abbott McKelvey and husband bought ten acres in TN, where they plan to build a cabin and concentrate on their weaving and painting hobbies.

67 Gary Lavan is senior account executive in both domestic and international human resources and executive recruitment with Roberts, Ryan and Bentley in Towson, MD. He has spent extensive time overseas developing markets and executive talent in Canada, Europe, Asia, Africa, and Latin American. Gary focuses on senior U.S. and overseas search assignments and is head of the manufacturing practice. He writes, "I hope that wasn't Jock McIntosh in the '67 reunion photo! How come he got so old?"

WARREN C. HUME '39, '70H

Scholarship made Rollins a reality for former IBM exec

By his own admission, Warren Hume is a lucky man. The son of a Chicago plumber, he went on to help run one of America's largest companies and, along the way, witnessed history in the making. But make no mistake, this is a person who has seldom allowed a good opportunity to pass him by.

Growing up in America's heartland in the midst of the Depression, Hume and a friend were recruited by legendary football great Red Grange to attend Stetson University on athletic scholarships. After hitchhiking from Chicago to Deland, Florida, they soon learned about a great school "down the road that boasted pretty girls and a great football team."

"When we got to Rollins, we ran into Dean (Arthur) Enyart and asked him if he might be interested in a couple of football players," recalled Hume. "He checked with (football) Coach Jack McDowall who said he would try us out the next day. That night, in an effort to escape the mosquitoes, we crawled to the top of the old diving platform on Lake Virginia. The police found us about four o'clock the next morning and took us to the back door of a bakery on Park Avenue where they were just taking rolls out of the oven. That was our introduction to Winter Park and to Rollins."

Hume went on to play football and crew during his four years at Rollins. He also was active in many extracurricular activities and managed to fall in love with fellow student Augusta Yust, who happened to be the daughter of the College's librarian. The two were married the day after their graduation in 1939, and today they are the proud parents of three children.

There were special moments, Hume recalls, during their days spent at Rollins. A turning point for him occurred during the annual "Animated Magazine" held during their junior year. The featured speaker was Thomas J. Watson, Sr., founder and president of the IBM Corporation, then a 25-year-old company already earning more than $30 million in annual sales.

"Mr. Watson's topic was how education should be a never-ending process," said Hume. "After he appeared at Rollins, I wrote him a letter informing him that I would graduate the next year, and since I had already taken all of my required courses, I asked him what electives he would suggest I take so that I might be able to work for a company as prestigious as IBM. Hamilton Holt, who knew Watson personally, also wrote a letter on my behalf. After graduation, I went to work for IBM in their Chicago sales office earning a princely sum of $75 per month."

Hume continued to sell data processing systems for IBM until joining the Navy in 1942 to help with the war effort. He was assigned to Navy Headquarters in Washington, D.C., and was put in charge of all the machine records for officers and enlisted men. "The records were an absolute mess. My commanding officer asked what I wanted and I said to be transferred anywhere else. He then struck a deal with me: straighten out the paperwork and I could write my own orders." After about eight months of restructuring the department and eliminating much of the administrative logjam, Hume got himself reassigned to flight navigation training and then the Pacific Theater for three years, flying as a navigator on PB-4Y aircraft.

After the war, Hume returned stateside and again went to work for IBM. This time, he was put in charge of training sales staff at the company's school in Endicott, New York. During the next 15 years, Hume was promoted to various positions throughout the Midwest. In May 1961, he got a call from Tom Watson, Jr., who had taken over leadership of the company, asking him to serve as president of IBM's Data Processing Division. It turned out to be a fortuitous assignment, for it put the young executive at the forefront of a historic moment: the introduction of the world's first high-speed computer.

"Looking back, I'd say one of the real highlights of my career was the introduction of the IBM System 360. We held a press conference to introduce the hardware in Poughkeepsie, and a special train carried journalists there from New York City. I remember while I was making the presentation, one of the Klieg lights, which were quite heavy, fell from the ceiling at the feet of Mr. Watson. I speculated to the press what kind of media coverage we would have gotten had that light fallen on Mr. Watson's head. He laughed, so everything turned out all right in the end. And the System 360 got an awful lot of world attention all on its own."

Hume said the secret to selling IBM was more about solving customer's technical problems than it was about selling hardware. For example, he put into place a production control system for Oldsmobile, the first of its kind for any General Motors division. "We used to advertise: 'We don't sell machines, we sell solutions.' That's absolutely true. I constantly reminded our people that we were fulfilling a need more than selling hardware."

Hume eventually became a senior vice president and director of the company. He retired from IBM in 1976 after 37 years. However, he stayed on as a consultant, lecturing to graduate business schools and traveling extensively throughout South America and the Orient in order to advise the company on how best to compete in the volatile overseas computer industry.

Warren and Augusta Hume pose with Kim Fletcher, recipient of the 4th Habitat for Humanity House built by Rollins students and staff. The Humes donated furniture to the Fletcher family for their new home.

The octogenarian has remained busy, serving on the boards of several international and domestic companies as well as taking courses in everything from art to word processing. He and Augusta have also been very generous to their alma mater, with both their time and money. For example, they recently donated much of their furnishings to a family for whom Rollins students had just completed a Habitat for Humanity house. "The lesson I've always preached is that you don't have to give a million bucks to make a difference," he said. "You can really make an impact on another person's life with a minimum of financing."

Hume served as a Rollins alumni trustee from 1964 to 1967, and has served on the College's Board of Trustees for the past 21 years. He was a recipient of the Distinguished Alumnus Award in 1987, and was presented an Honorary Degree of Letters from the College in 1970.

"I remember my first gift to Rollins," said Hume. "When we reached a point where we could afford it, I multiplied by four the cost of my annual room, board, and tuition ($1,365), calculated the interest that amount would have earned, and I mailed off a check for the total amount. I couldn't have afforded to attend college had it not been for the scholarships. I figured that repaying the scholarships with interest was the least I could do to repay what I'd been given. I've preached that message to several of my former classmates."

"The thing I remember most about my experience at Rollins is how lucky I was. I was attending the College during the Depression, an experience I never could have enjoyed without a scholarship. I was eating well. I was learning. I remember the trips to the beach where the College owned a house (The Pelican). To me, the world was my oyster. Fortunately, it still is." —LRH

Young Alumni moving up in the world

Betsy Hill Storm '90 may be squarely planted in the middle of Generation X, but she'd have a hard time identifying with the "slacker" stereotype associated with her peers.

Storm is the director of corporate communications for HONOR Technologies Inc., one of the largest electronic funds transfer networks in the country. The HONOR automated teller machine card is carried by more than 40 million people.

In her position, Storm is responsible for public relations and developing and implementing marketing programs for the company. She is also the primary event planner for HONOR.

Overachieving is nothing new to Storm. She graduated magna cum laude with a bachelor's degree in English and a minor in economics. Storm served as co-editor of the Sandspur as well as a consultant in the Writing Center.

Like her father, she entered the banking/electronic funds transfer industry after graduation. She landed a job as an administrative assistant working in the company president's office. Knowing she was interested in the marketing field, the president allowed her to work on the company newsletter while handling general clerical tasks.

Betsy Hill Storm '90

Director of Corporate Communications
HONOR Technologies, Inc.

"The first thing I got to do that wasn't typing was the newsletter," said Storm.

Today the newsletter has a circulation of 6,000 and is read by representatives of financial institutions across the Southeast.

At the end of 1991, Storm was named marketing administrator. In 1994, she became director of marketing. After HONOR merged with two other networks in January, she was promoted to her current position.

She said her experience at Rollins played a large part in her success today. While working in the Writing Center, Storm learned to evaluate students' work and convey her thoughts on improvement.

"I can't do all this myself," she said of her many responsibilities. "I manage a lot of outside agencies to get these things done. I'm always evaluating the work done for HONOR to obtain the best possible marketing products."

She said that through her professors and the Writing Center she also learned to critically evaluate her own writing.

"Professors at Rollins pushed you to be better. They taught you not to be satisfied with the very first thing you wrote." —KDH

In the spotlight

Rollins is well known for its graduates who have gone on to distinguished careers on stage and screen. It's no wonder, then, the College was well represented in various award programs this summer.

At the 24th Annual Daytime Emmy Awards program last May, Fred McFeely Rogers '51 was presented a Lifetime Achievement Award for his career as creator and producer of Mister Rogers' Neighborhood. As if one wasn't enough, he received the same award in July from the Television Critics Association. Rogers' program, which has aired on PBS stations for three decades, is watched in more than 8 million homes each week.

At the Tony Awards last June, Dana Ivey '63 was nominated for "best performance by a featured actress" in the play, The Last Night of Ballyhoo. Ivey, who has appeared in many successful plays and movies, played the lead role in the stage production of Driving Miss Daisy.

Claudia Park Cruz '88 and husband Alex

Jason Opsahl '84 is appearing in the cast of Once Upon a Mattress, which was nominated for "best revival of a musical." An accomplished actor, Opsahl also appeared in the Broadway version of Will Rogers Follies.

Also represented at the Tony Awards was Claudia Park Cruz '88, who serves as production coordinator at the Circle in the Square Theatre in Manhattan. Their season opener last year was Stanley, whose lead actor, Anthony Sher, won an award for best performance. The play was also nominated in the categories of "best director" and "best play." Cruz, who like Opsahl is an Orlando native, is the daughter of Joanne Granberry '86, a longtime employee of the College.—LRH at the University of Georgia. She reports that Melissa Smith '93 is head of the income development department for the American Cancer Society in Tampa, FL. Suzanne Nicolosi is working as a librarian in Mexico City. Wendy Weiss was featured in the off-broadway musical Americana and then traveled across the U.S. and Canada with American Family Theatre's production of Pinocchio. Donald D'Orto graduated from the University of Florida in May with his master's degree in Latin American Studies. FREDERICK A. HAUCK

Rollins friend never stopped learning, giving

Frederick A. Hauck, inventor, businessman, and long-time supporter of Rollins, died May 9 at a retirement center in Ohio, where he had resided for the past seven years. He was 102.

"Fred always had a wonderful outlook on life. He never seemed to tire of the challenges confronting him, which I'm sure contributed to his longevity," said Warren Johnson, vice president for development and college relations. "He was very enthusiastic about young people, and particularly their ability to get a good education. To say that he was a friend of Rollins and of higher education in general would be an understatement."

A native of Cincinnati, Hauck was born in 1894 into a family with interests in banking and a brewery business. Recognized as an expert on strategic minerals, he was instrumental in the development of a nuclear reactor, which came to be known as the Hauck Gas Core Reactor. He became familiar with Rollins in the early 1940s when he began wintering in Winter Park. Over the years, he established student scholarships at Rollins; provided funding for Hauck Hall, which houses an auditorium, classrooms, and the offices of the Foreign Languages Department; and funded the College's Greenhouse. In honor of his support of Rollins, Hauck was presented the George Morgan Ward Medal in 1967 and was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree in May 1983.

In 1990, at a luncheon honoring his gift to a private school in the Cincinnati area, Hauck shared with the audience advice he had once received from Albert Einstein: "Never give up learning. No one can ever take away what you've learned." It was advice the centenarian followed every day of his life. —LRH

MELANIE TAMMEN '83

Rollins foundation relations director, political activist dies at 36

Melanie Tammen '83, who had served as Rollins' director of foundation relations for the past four years, died August 6 in Maitland, Fla.

"Melanie was the consummate professional," said Warren Johnson, vice president for development and college relations. "She was an excellent writer and was successful in obtaining foundation support for many Rollins programs. But more than that, she was a good friend. She served her alma mater well and she will be missed by all who had the opportunity to know her."

After graduating from Rollins, Tammen earned her master's degree in international relations from Georgetown University. Following graduation, she worked in Washington, D.C., as a research associate for the Heritage Foundation and as a project director for the Competitive Enterprise

Alumni Board garners CASE award as model program

The Council for Advancement and Support of Education (CASE) has awarded the Rollins College Alumni Association with a Grand Gold Medal in its 1997 Circle of Excellence Awards program.

CASE is the professional organization for more than 14,250 practitioners in the field of institutional advancement, encompassing educational fund raising, alumni relations, communications, government relations, student recruitment, and the management of these areas. In selecting its award winners, CASE looks for programs that encourage sound strategies and concrete planning as well as new and innovative ideas. CASE then holds up the winners as models to inspire and motivate other professionals to new levels of excellence.

Rollins won the award for its model program in the category of Alumni Boards. Submitted by Executive Director Cynthia Wood, the winning entry outlined the three-year strategic plan that the association followed to energize, reorganize, and strengthen its alumni board of directors.

"The Alumni Relations category attracted a record number of outstanding entries this year," said Awards Chair Christine Love. "In judging the entries, we looked for programs that could serve as models for other organizations. The plan submitted by the Rollins Alumni Association provided a succinct, step-by-step process that any organization could follow to revitalize its alumni board."

As a winner, the association and its program was recognized during the 1997 CASE Annual Assembly in Washington, D.C. In addition, the entry will be featured in the council's magazine, Currents, and will be included in a notebook of the council's core curriculum for use at the Annual Assembly and other selected conferences.

"Receiving this award is a great honor and a testament to the quality and professionalism of our Alumni Board. I would like to specifically thank Tim Brown, Gerald Ladner, and Sam Martin for their concentrated effort in developing this plan as well as recognize Cynthia Wood for her overall leadership in implementing the plan," said former Association president Jack Myers. "This recognition enhances not only the reputation of our alumni association and its board, but also that of the College overall."

Want to get out news of your recent promotion to your Rollins friends? Can't remember the date of the next alumni event being held in your area? Need the latest info about your upcoming Reunion?

All this and more awaits you at the "Rollins Alumni e-zine" (electronic magazine). Created by Tom Donnelly '63, Jill Slavens Wacker '91, and Sam Farmer '97, the Alumni Association's exciting new Website already rivals Admission's as the most popular Rollins site, averaging 5,000 hits per week.

"e-zine" makes it e-z to stay in touch

Now, from anywhere in the world, you can share your news almost instantly via the Web, rather than wait for months to see it appear in the Alumni Record (although your news will continue to appear in good old-fashioned print in the magazine). And, by using the alumni e-mail directory, you can chat with your classmates and make plans together to attend Reunion.
