

Editors' Note

The 2018-2019 edition of Brushing is an amalgam of unique voices and perspectives. Despite their differences, they are all united as members of the Rollins community. The Rollins experience cannot be pigeonholed in any singular way; the stories, poems, and artwork displayed in Brushing reflect this diversity of experience. We believe that these pieces are stronger together than they are apart, representing the beautiful messiness that is the college experience.

As any leaders, we would be nothing without the rest of our team. We wholeheartedly thank all of our Readers and Editors, as well as everyone who took the time to submit. Finally, we thank Greg Golden and Dr. Matthew Forsythe for their unwavering support and advice. Without all of you, Brushing would not exist.

We hope that the honesty of the following creative works inspires our readers to be open and truthful in their own lives while considering perspectives that may differ from their own.

Sincerely,

Alex Candage & Siobhan Nolet
Co-Editors-in-Chief
