COMMITTEE STUDIES FIELD HOUSE PLANS

Shown above is a preliminary sketch of the Arthur D. Enyart Field House which Alumni of Rollins College have undertaken as their Diamond Jubilee Project. The Alumni Building Committee along with committees from the Board of Trustees, Faculty and Athletic Department are working out detailed plans for the interior of the building which will seat at least 2500 spectators. In addition to the large basketball court, adequate locker rooms, offices, meeting rooms and other facilities for year round use will make the Arthur D. Enyart Field House a welcome and valuable addition to the Rollins Campus. The exterior design will match other campus buildings.

New Faculty Members Announced

Eleven educators, among them a number of internationally known figures, joined the Rollins College faculty this year.

Dr. Schiller Scroggs, Dean of the College said the new faculty members will make a valuable contribution to the college's increasing academic standards.

Dr. Laurens H. Seelye, former president of St. Lawrence University and leading American educator in the Middle East was named visiting professor of philosophy. Dr. Seelye's appointment was made possible through a John Hay Whitney Foundation grant under which outstanding educators are made available for a year to a limited number of small arts colleges.

From Britain comes Dr. Bruce B. Wavell, a highly qualified philosopher and specialist in mathematical logic, and author in his field. Dr. Wavell, who had been named lecturer at London University, turned down that appointment to become Rollins assistant professor of Mathematics.

Directing Rollins Foreign Language Studies will be Dr. J. Worth Banner, who comes here from the College of William and Mary where he was Chairman of the Foreign Language Department and Professor of Spanish Language and Literature.

Prof. Robert Swanton Platt, an outstanding authority in the field of geography and advisor to the U.S. Government in the field, will be responsible for the Area Studies Course and also carry a course in Regional Geography. Prof. Platt spent the past two years as a Fulbright scholar in Germany.

CLOVERLEAF COTTAGE IS REJUVENATED

Cloverleaf Cottage the 74-year-old girls dormitory underwent a complete restoration during the summer just passed. President and Mrs. Hugh McKean not only supervised the workmen and painters but devoted the three summer months to painstaking work to bring about the complete and beautiful rejuvenation of this historic landmark on the Campus.

Mrs. Hugh F. McKean

At the formal reopening ceremonies on the night of September 27, Mrs. McKean presented John Tiedtke, treasurer and second vice-president of Rollins, with a check for $27,000 to cover the entire cost of the restoration. In accepting the check Mr. Tiedtke said "It is impossible to calculate the contribution President and Mrs. McKean made. Any one who can think up 56 different schemes for this dormitory and not charge for it, is a sensation."

Dr. A. J. Hanna, first vice-president of Rollins, in commenting on Mrs. McKean's efforts in restoring Cloverleaf said, "It was a practical form of teaching art, and appreciation of art." Cloverleaf was built at a cost of slightly more than $10,000 in 1891. In the beginning when funds were low, much of the furnishings had to be improvised, he said, and dedicated people spent months transforming such materials as dry goods boxes, cheesecloth and moss to provide furnishings and decorations to the building.

More than 700 Central Florida Alumni and friends of Rollins attended the formal reopening ceremonies.

Irene and Randolph Lake wrote from Hong Kong in late July, where they seem to be having a wonderful trip, enjoying the shopping and the sights.

Please note that you have a new class secretary! It is with a sense of nostalgia and devotion that I have agreed to serve, and sincerely hope that all members of the Class of '17 will rally to my plea and send me word about their latest happenings, attainments, moves, etc. Pronto! As for myself — my husband, known to all and sundry as Bud, retired last May and he and I set out almost at once on a long circle tour of the U. S. We went to Springfield, Mo. where I was reared as a child, on down to the Carlsbad Caverns, to visit friends in Arizona, across the border into Mexico briefly, visited a sister in California, then one in Washington on Whidby Island, took in Yellowstone Park and so on . . . driving some 9,000 miles and having no car trouble whatsoever. I recommend it as a painless way for a man to retire! Especially when he comes back to the upkeep of a house and two apartments, plus church and civic duties etc. We both manage to keep extremely busy.
