ROLLINS ALUMNI RECORD

No. 5

MAY, 1959

VOL. XXXVI

300 Alumni Flood Campus

More than 300 Rollins College alumni attended the Charter Day Reunion weekend highlighted by their decision to build a fieldhouse honoring Dean Emeritus of Men Arthur D. Enyart, and the granting of six special honors.

Alumni from all over the country and as far south as the West Indies came to revive memories of their carefree days and plan what they could do to keep Rollins the bulwark of independent liberal arts education.

Rollins Alumni Inc. President Ted E. Mischuck of Orlando called the three-day sojourn "one of the most successful in years." He said he hoped the alumni left Rollins with enough pleasant memories to come back next year and inspire others to make the 1959-60 reunion even more successful.

Tie Fun and Work

The weekend was designed to give the returning alumni a combination of pleasure and business experiences which would inspire them to an even more active participation in the affairs of their Alma Mater.

One of the series of business sessions involved group discussions on "Alumni, Past Present and Future." Material gleaned from this new phase of alumni activities is now being sifted and studied for a report which will be published at a later date. Its purpose is to give the alumni a chance to participate more widely in the life of the college, help improve it and maintain it as leader of higher education in the South.

Seminars Effective

Some 50 alumni also attended seminars interpreting the purposes of Rollins and its Conference Plan. Each session was followed by Q & A periods.

Dr. Florence M. Stone, a prominent New York microbiologist, delivered a memory-stirring Charter Day Convocation speech in which she said that her training at Rollins prepared her for "many of the arduous tasks I had to face in life."

She said the broad liberal arts education she received from her Alma Mater gave her the foundation on which to build a career as a scientist, and the understanding for undertakings "which at times seemed futile, overpowering, and useless."

Coeds Aid

The decision to build a field house was announced by President Hugh F. McKean Saturday night at a Rose Skillman Hall banquet honoring Dean Enyart.

Student groups provided most of the entertainment for the returning alumni. Friday night some 250 attended a Lake Virginia picnic at which members of various campus organizations showed their prowess in water sports, canoe racing and fire diving.

The same night the Rollins Players put on a special performance of the "Italian Straw Hat" at the Annie Russell. The actors and actresses, inspired by alumni attendance, put on probably the best performance of the season.

Mischuck Re-elected Alumni Prexy

Ted E. Mischuck, a prominent Orlando investment banker, was re-elected as president of the Rollins Alumni Inc.

Election of officers and new members of the board of directors took place at the annual meeting of the organization representing some 5,400 Rollins Alumni throughout the country.

Elected first vice president was Robert Witherell of Winter Park and 2nd vice president Richard Baldwin also of Winter Park. Mrs. Robert Carson of Maitland was elected Treasurer and Mrs. James W. Hayes of Winter Park was named secretary.

New Directors

Five new members were also elected to the 15-member Alumni Board of Directors for a three-year term. They were Mrs. Robert Carson of Maitland; William Pittman of Orlando; John Sayers of Winter Park; C. Joseph Knowles of Leesburg, and Frank Ferguson of Winter Park.

Continue Aid

In accepting the presidency, the Central Florida businessman called on Rollins alumni throughout the country to continue their support of the 74-year-old liberal arts institution and help promote its principles and high academic standings.

Mischuck also reaffirmed his determination to carry to the state and the nation a first-hand story of how Rollins College, an independent and privately supported institution of higher learning, maintains its leadership in educational standards and expands its physical facilities.

Rev. Ensminger Gets Presidential Medal

Five outstanding Rollins College Alumni and former Alumni director were singled out for special honors during the 74-year-old institution's Charter Day Convocation.

Representing all walks of life the six participated in the college's three-day festivities marking its Charter Day Alumni Reunion attended by several hundred alumni from all over the nation.

List Honorees

The honorees were: The Rev. Dr. Fred Patterson Ensminger of Sanford, Florida; Arthur Frank Landstreet of Memphis, Tenn.; Dr. Florence M. Stone of New York; Mrs. Rebecca Coleman Wilson of Winter Park, Florida; Thomas Phillips Johnson of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Raymond E. Kirk of Deland, Florida.

President Hugh F. McKean conferred the honors following a Charter Day Convocation Address by Dr. Stone.

Service To Church

A leading Central Florida theologian and former Superintendent of the Congregational Latin American Institute at West Tampa, Rev. Ensminger received the George Morgan Ward Medal for his outstanding service to the church and his devotion, "dynamic loyalty and service to the college."

Named the 1959 "Hotel Man of the Year" by the American Hotel Assn., Landstreet, who is also one of the founders and the only president of the American Hotel Institute at Michigan State University, received the William Fremont Blackman Medal for his leadership in and pioneering spirit in Hotel business.

Aid To Humanity

Dr. Stone, a leading bacteriologist and physiologist at the State University of New York, received the Blackman Medal for her contributions to medicine designed to buttress human health.

Mrs. Wilson, a member of the Rollins Board of Trustees, former president of Rollins Alumni Inc., and a mother of four sons, received the Rollins Decoration of Honor.

She was cited for her "distinguished and eminent service to the College" on the 25th anniversary of her graduation.

Counsel and Support

A leading Pittsburgh lawyer, and former editor of the Harvard Law Review, Johnson, who is also a trustee of the College, received the Rollins Decoration of Honor for his "unflinching counsel, effort and support" of the institution and his leadership in contributing to the progress of the liberal arts institution.

Deland's leading printer, Kirk, who was hailed last Fall by the Alumni Association for his "tireless, unselfish and devoted services" as the organization's director, received the Rollins Decoration of Honor from the College for his "real and significant contributions to the progress of Rollins."

Placement Office Adds New Service

This Spring Rollins became member of the Alumnae Advisory Center in New York.

This non-profit organization was formed by a number of colleges to aid their women graduates in seeking jobs, and prospective employers who want college trained women, beginners or experienced.

Alumnae and graduates may register with the Advisory Center, free of charge, to discuss their interests and abilities and to learn what fields offer good future in New York.

The Center also prepares bulletins about job opportunities, has a job reference library, sets up various conferences for job seekers, and gives advice on how to apply initiative in finding a job.

Alumnae may also register with the subsidiary Alumnae Placement Agency to be referred to full-time openings, to find part-time jobs while searching for the right spot, or to earn money for graduate school. Fees for the placement service are 25 per cent lower than the commercial agencies.

The Alumnae Advisory Center and the Alumnae Placement Agency are located at 541 Madison Avenue. Miss Alice Gore King is the Executive Director. Mrs. Bernard Schwartz, Assistant Director, does the interviewing by appointment for the Placement Service.

The New York Center will serve as an extension of the placement service on Rollins campus offered to all undergraduates and alumni since 1954.

ALUMNI TO BUILD GYMNASIUM

FIELDHOUSE TO SEAT 2,500 SPECTATORS

Rollins alumni, attending the Charter Day Reunion Weekend, enthusiastically endorsed a plan to build a modern fieldhouse for the Alma Mater as their Diamond Jubilee project.

The plan, announced by President Hugh F. McKean, was unanimously accepted some 300 alumni attending their Charter Day Reunion banquet honoring Dean Emeritus of Men Arthur D. Enyart.

McKean said the new structure, which will be named after the famed Dean, will seat 2,500 persons and have parking space for some 600 cars.

The spacious inside, McKean said, will provide facilities for intercollegiate basketball, and physical education, including intramural sports and recreation, physical education classes, and a wide range of other college functions such as conferences and special college events.

Surprise To All

The surprise announcement was interrupted several times by tumultuous applause. Standing ovation was given Dean Enyart when Pres. McKean announced that the structure will be named in his honor.

Alumni President Ted Mischuck said plans for the building and the raising of funds will be drawn during the 1959-1960 academic year.

He praised the College's Board of Trustees for their support of the project and said that "without their tremendous spirit of cooperation and enthusiasm the plan would not have been possible."

Mischuck said the national campaign, while helping build a lasting national alumni organization, will allow everyone to "experience a wholesome successful project and develop alumni leadership for the future."

National Response

He also asserted that, judging from the response the fieldhouse project received from the alumni on the campus, he was sure that it "will go over just as big with those who have not been able to be here with us."

President McKean also praised the Board of Trustees for their support and cooperation in making the project a reality instead of a constant dream.

Sorely needed to round-out the college's building program, the new gymnasium, when completed, will be the third new structure to grace the campus since President McKean took the reins seven years ago.

Chain Reaction

Last year marked the completion of the Rose Skillman Hall and the Elizabeth Hall.

The erection of the Skillman hall started a true chain reaction. Mr. McKean had the old Lyman Hall moved and after it was ingeniously restored it began to serve as a classroom building. The old "beanery" is now being used to house the Fine Arts Department, and their old facility is now accommodating Rollins Courses for the Community. Rollins needs more "chain reactions" like these.

DEAN ENYART HONORED AT ALUMNI BANQUET

The best kept secret on Rollins campus during the reunion was the banquet honoring Dean Emeritus of Men Arthur D. Enyart for his years of unselfish service and devotion to Rollins.

Although he knew that "something was cooking," (he got an official traffic summons to the "Rollins High Court of Honor" from Winter Park's Police Chief Carl Buchanan) the 70-year-old Dean did not know until he entered the Rose Skillman Hall that he was the man of the hour.

And, when President McKean had announced that the new fieldhouse would be named after him, the Dean could not believe his ears.

In paying his respects, Pres. McKean said that it was his "fervent wish that the fieldhouse will become a reality soon enough to allow our beloved Dean to enjoy many events in it."

Shaken, but happy "Mr. Rollins" came to the microphone and said: "There ain't nobody that good, but my cup runneth over."

In an emotion packed response to the standing ovation he received, Enyart recalled some of his old days as a football player and called for the same kind of spirit that he knew to be ingenerated in today's Rollins students.

The evening took weeks of preparation. Letters from alumni came pouring in telling of his "exploits" as one of Rollins greatest personalities. These were bound and given him at the dinner.

The Florida Magazine prepared a special article with a color cover, and it was handed to the Dean just as it got off the presses.

The "instigator" of the surprise was Henry Lauterbach and his wife Wilma of Delevan, Wisc. Lauterbach even had the banquet program printed in Wisconsin just to make sure that nothing leaked out — and nothing did until the time came.

The Rollins "300" at Rose Skillman Hall.

Col. George Morgan King, '95, Boston, and Jean Cartwright Farrens, '49, Coral Gables, stopped to try out the alumni comfort station before becoming among the first of 221 alumni to register during the 1959 alumni weekend. Last year 136 alumni signed in and 127 registered in 1957. Next year the reunion for all alumni will be on April 22, 23 and 24, with special class reunions for the classes of 1905, 1910, 1915, 1920, 1925, 1930, 1935, 1940, 1945, 1950, 1955 and the Gay 90's.
