

TONGUE DARES VERBOSITY

a poem by Carmen Berenguer translated from the Spanish

The slut tongue dares bear lability
 The murmurous eye eyeleaf she-wolf furrowridge
 The red mountain fancyboy verb
 The turbulent pinkrose water Shakes heshe language lips Labial fine hearing the girlfear Fire eye spying sneaking meek wolfgirl

Upsets the eye salty the waters rocky loyal skin sea wolfgirl yellow seafoam smooth pelt waves the artificial eye skims puma seagull

Huge trembling lability tongue sweet word Sweet trunk branching leaf precious tongue fleet deereyed pen trill little tongue rose thorn bleed tongue truncate word lie spy lip loyal anodyne trembling dollgirl Ephemeral the labile rose press lip furious seizure
 The dumbfish mud redcolors
 As waters greenish roses thorns

Eye malleable salvo/oath and rite the fountain girlspeak tongue eye meek salute

Word retina of tongue howlings
 Thorn crown burning fountain lustful Languishing arrogant glib passion's pen.
