The Florida Military Academy is now 16 years old. It has by its high standards of excellence earned for itself an enviable reputation among prominent educators both of the North and of the South, has been patronized by the very best people of this and of many other states, has been accredited by leading universities and colleges of the country, and it has been for several years and now is accredited by the Commission on Accredited Schools of the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern States. It offers all of the advantages found in the best university preparatory schools of the country, and it also offers a course in business training for cadets who will not attend college. The Academy is a member of the Association of Military Colleges and Schools of the United States.

Utmost care exercised in the selection of enrollment, which is limited to 75 cadets, assures best associations. Only boys of ambition who wish to accomplish something worth while accepted. New students must be under 16 years of age, except in special cases.

EDITORIALS

FRRIENDS of Rollins have every reason to feel optimistic over the future of the college as the opening of the Fortieth Year approaches. She is prepared to pass this milestone with a record of achievement, not especially marked by the variety of departments possessed, or by the huge number of students graduated, but by the quality of those 3,000 young men and women who have left their alma mater's halls on the shores of Lake Virginia, during the past thirty-nine years.

Founders of Rollins planned that she should grow not so much in numbers or in buildings as in quality of instruction, in modernity of methods, and in inspiration of leadership.

Rollins enters her Fortieth Year well started on the realization of this great conception. Possessing an income-producing endowment fund of over a half million dollars, presided over by a strong, Christian, faculty, with standards in conformity with the best Southern colleges, and recently coming under the virile leadership of President Wier, Rollins will surely remain true to her ideals, in the fulfillment of one of the objects of the alumni,—“and find a place among the South's foremost, small, high-grade colleges of liberal arts.”

PRESIDENT WEIR

WHAT is Oregon's loss is Florida's gain in the calling of President Weir from Pacific University to Rollins College. Due to the standing of Rollins in this and other states, President Weir comes at once to the forefront of Florida's prominent leaders. He will, therefore, receive that warm welcome and assurance of sincere and effective support of his administration that is accorded newcomers by progressive Floridians.

ENDOWMENT NOW $514,450

TO him that hath, shall be given” is proving true of the income-producing endowment fund of Rollins. Since passing that much coveted half million dollar point last May, $13,500 has been paid into the First Trust & Savings Bank of Chicago, from pledges, and now the grand total comes to $514,450.00.

STUDENT BODY FOR 1924-25

PENDING the election of a president last spring, the Trustees called upon the Alumni Council to provide a strong student body for 1924-25. The leadership of these graduates in the interests of their alma mater during this inter-regnum has resulted is unquestionably the strongest student body of which Rollins has boasted to date. It is a selected body of young people who will become Rollins men and women this year. The best, with few exceptions, of the three upper classes are returning to carry on advanced work. A few unworthy ones have not been allowed to return. With the assistance of the Florida Honor Scholarship system, established at the request of the Alumni Ass'n, this state will, for the first time be adequately represented in quality and numbers, in the Rollins student body.

In the selection of the student body, the alumni have been guided rigidly by the requirements of the Southern Association of Colleges and of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Ass'n. These first and important steps toward the year's success must, and will be, supported by the faculty and strengthened by it. With such a policy in force, the Rollins product needs no apologies. There may not be large numbers but those who live up to these standards will be worthy the name of Rollins, and they will be a source of much pride to the alumni and supporters of Rollins College.

ALUMNI COMMITTEES

TWO committees of the Alumni Council, one on Accreditation and one on Athletics, are rendering Rollins a signal service. The College cannot progress in standards until she becomes a member of such recognized bodies as the Southern Association of Colleges and the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Ass'n. If proper support is continued these committees will place Rollins on the proper foundation.

FACULTY FOR 1924-25

WITH the return of last year's faculty augmented by several staff members and with vacancies opened by resignations filled with able specialists, the faculty for 1924-25 will offer to the incoming student body their very best instruction, personal interest, and inspirational leadership. These professors stand ready to discover and direct special or unusual tendencies or abilities of students, speed up the slow students and stimulate still farther the fast ones. Only in a small college, such as Rollins, are such advantages offered.

ALUMNI PROGRAM

NOW that one part of the Alumni Program, i.e., the providing of a strong student body, has been successfully accomplished, greater emphasis must now be placed on the other promises to which the alumni are committed. But in order to proceed it is absolutely necessary that a more general and generous financial response be received. The tremendous expense involved must be paid by cash, since the Alumni Council is unwilling to run up obligations for which there is not cash in sight with which to meet them. Unless the budget planned is made possible, the results will be weak and ineffective. Join that One Hundred Club and send your check for $5 each month.

DEAN SPRAGUE

RECENT alumni will receive with satisfaction the news that Prof. Robert J. Sprague, A.M. (Harvard), Ph.D. (Boston U.), for two years acting head of the college, will retain an active connection with Rollins as Dean and Professor of Social Sciences. He is an inspirational leader in the classroom and an understanding chairman of the faculty.

LEON FORT, '09

ROLLINS views with pride the recognition of ability that has recently been accorded Leon B. Fort of the Class of 1909. The following editorial from the Orlando Sentinel voices Rollins sentiment elsewhere as well as in this part of the state:

With the appointment of L. B. Fort, well known Orlando citizen, to the board of the Orlando Utilities Commission, both the citizens of the City Beautiful and Mr. Fort are to be congratulated. An intimate knowledge of the new commissioner tempts us to believe that the city and utilities commission are more to be praised for the addition than is he himself.

While public positions in many instances bring with them considerable honor and glory, they also carry with them heavy responsibilities and, if the office holder has a conscience, considerable honest-to-goodness, brow dampening labor. Mr. Fort is known throughout the city as one who realizes his responsibilities, his duties, and as a man who is not afraid to tackle them. In accepting the new position—and Bill Fort would not have consented to become a member of the utilities commission had he not felt that he was capable of discharging its requirements—he has not only behind him his own good record, but the good wishes of all of the citizens who are interested in the least in the welfare of the City Beautiful.

Leon D. Lewis, x21, prominent alumnus of St. Petersburg, was a visitor to Winter Park recently.

A THEOLOGICAL QUESTION

"And God created man" with brains to reign

"And gave dominion" over hill and plain,
And over every living thing but one,
The tree of Knowledge, which he bade him shun.

But man imperious in his hour of power
O'ersteps his bounds and loses Eden's bower Condemned and driven from this place of ease
To sweat and toil for bread without surcease.

Thus in God's reconstructed plan for man
The life of ease receives Jehovah's ban;
But labor proved a blessing in disguise,
The will to work, has made great nations rise.

Inaction is the anteroom of gloom
And luxury has spelled a people's doom;
The empires of antiquity all fell
A tyrant's pleasure was a subject's hell.

God banished man to work—a doubtful curse;
Luxurious Eden might have proved much worse.

For work makes growth. Can aught that truth rescind,
Would there be progress, had not Adam sinned?

—ROBERT SHAILOR HOLMES.

1934 Marshall St., Benwood, W. Va., is connected with the Wheeling Tile Co., of that city.

President Wier and the Faculty

THE administration and faculty of any college, but particularly of a small college such as Rollins, are the great contributing factors in the year's success. It is believed that Rollins is unusually fortunate for 1924-25. With the new leadership of President Weir will come a doubled enthusiasm and an enlarged support. Dr. George W. Nash, formerly president of the Congregational Foundation and President-Elect of Yankton College, has recently made the following reference to President Weir's coming to Rollins: "Dr. Weir is a fine Christian gentleman, tolerant in his attitude toward all men. He is one who can harmonize differences and unify seemingly divergent elements. He is a big man physically and is friendly in his attitude toward all his associates. He should prove a benignant influence in the development of the new Rollins College and should surely have the confidence of Southern and Northern Presbyterians and Congregationalists as he assumes his office. I hope that he may aid in making Winter Park a great educational center that shall be known and recognized throughout the country. Mrs. Weir is a charming woman who has been a great help to her husband. She is a good musician and always active in the church and club life of the community in which she lives."

Dr. Sprague's return as Dean will undoubtedly be a tremendous help to President Weir in carrying on the continuity of the church union policy and campus affairs. In the business offices will be Mr. W. R. O'Neal, Treasurer, and Messrs. A. J. Hanna and F. H. Ward. Mrs. E. B. Cass returns as Registrar with Mr. W. B. Johnston and Miss Nannie D. Harris, both members of the Winter Park High School faculty, as members of the Entrance Committee.

The other members of the faculty are as follows:

Faculty for 1924-25

WHY NOT ROLLINS?

By Elinor Emery Pollard, x19

COLLEGE professors, as a rule, firmly advocate continuity in a college education, feeling that thereby a student may gain a firmer, and hence more permanent foundation of learning, a deeper interest in his college activities, and a more sincere loyalty for his Alma Mater. And yet it is quite possible to substitute one year at least in another college with very interesting and profitable results. Particularly if the second college maintains an accepted standard of work, credits may be transferred without examination a comparison of campus life, college societies and athletics may add new ideas and an enthusiastic stimulus in the home field; and, although the new Alma Mater will measure its own loyalty and affection, the original ties will be none the less strong. In life, are there not many friendships, each one treasured for its own individual value?

To travel is always to broaden one's vision. History and geography settle themselves upon more workable scales; people, conforming their habits to their surroundings, teach new modes and ways of living; and Nature has new foliage and bird life in abundance for one to study. All this is helpful to a student during his period of learning, making perhaps a stronger appeal then, than as tho it came to him later in life, when his mind is absorbed in other interests.

It was my own experience to spend my sophomore year in another college. Beginning at Wellesley, I returned to graduate with my own class, and the year away proved invaluable in its influence upon some of my courses. For example, English was my largest major. I stored up a wealth of new and otherwise maintainable material for subsequent papers. History was a second major, and I learned the South and Southerners from contact more vividly and truly, than from books alone. I had traveled, and could measure distance in miles, instead of by inches on my ruler on the map. And not least in gain, were the friends and good times added to my college days.

I spent that year at Rollins College, in Winter Park, Florida. The campus is ideally located along the shore of Lake Virginia. The student body, totalling perhaps five hundred, is enough on the large-family scale for everyone to know and to take a real personal interest in each other. Summer continues throughout the winter months, making it possible to enjoy all outdoor sports. And men of national repute—Edwin Markham, poet, Irving Bacheller, author, other college professors, scientists and political leaders, visit the college on their southern journeys, affording Rollins students the valued opportunity of hearing their different personal opinions on current topics of interest.

Recently, the old Rollins Academy has been entirely dropped, and Rollins today is progressing as a high class college, and her work has become standardized so that "all work done at Rollins is accepted at par anywhere in America by the standard and associated colleges, either for undergraduate or post-graduate standing."

Reflecting personally, after five years out of college, it appears to my mind not so much the bare Latin and Greek assimilated during my college course, as the varied experiences, and varied contact with faculty and friends, which have left the more indelible impressions in life. Books can but open vistas of further study. Places and personalities, people and ways of living strike more deeply in their influence. And so, provided a student maintains a high standard of study, the impressions and influences of an experience such as mine, may prove of more broadening and lasting value to him, than mere continuity with his original Alma Mater.

Charlotte Swain, x23, of Sarasota, was married the latter part of July to Mr. Peter Wilson Strader, III, in New York City. Mrs. Strader was a student in Rollins for two years and one of the most popular girls on the campus. She is a talented pianist and is a member of Sigma Phi. Her father, Fred A. Swain, was also a student in Rollins.

Public Speaking a Requisite

By Florence Bumby, '23

OF all the studies which one pursues in college, I can think of none more universally beneficial to the student than Public Speaking. Yet unless that subject is made a college requirement, we find few students applying for it outside the realm of "would be" orators. For, while the majority at least of our high school graduates take up their college studies with the sincere purpose of fitting themselves for their future life, they more than likely fail to realize the necessity of a course in Public Speaking.

Of its main benefits we are more or less aware. In every branch of human life we are confronted with constant demand for clear thinking and forceful expression of thought. We have all experienced that stage of embarrassment which, when suddenly called upon for a few words, made us wish we had been born a fluent and natural speaker, or that we could by a turn of the wires be transformed into a fly on the wall. But wishing did not make it so, and we had to struggle through somehow. We are all too well acquainted with the man who sits quietly through a meeting and later whispers confidentially to a friend that he had much better suggestions than those presented, but "he never was much to talk in public." We too frequently meet the man who has splendid ideas but remains an idealist because of his inability to approach others on the subject. Such men and such occasions are ever before us. These obstacles are more easily overcome during our student days with repeated practice in the class room than in any other way.

Often interest gained through open discussion in the class room and through reading and preparation has aroused the student to action and has set his brain cells working along new channels. Subjects brought before him which he has heretofore left to the discussion of his elders, make him feel that he is entitled to his opinions and therefore, the expression of these opinions. Consequently he is preparing himself for his part in the settlement of great public questions.

So we find the student who sows the seed of perseverance during his college days, in later years reaping the harvest of self-confidence, clear and unbiased thinking, as well as good poise which are large factors in the fundamentals of success.

That is why the more progressive institutions of learning today, which are striving to send from their halls men and women endowed with the right principles of living and the preparation for making their lives successful and happy ones, are realizing the fundamental benefits of public speaking for every student; and consequently are making Public Speaking compulsory for a year or more.

Rollins is to be congratulated on her foresight in installing this course as required for at least one year.

Edward Eichstaedt

Graduate of the Cocoa High School, who is entering the freshman class of Rollins. He was President of the Florida High School Press Association this past year.

THE GENERAL CURRICULUM

(This page will include from month to month items of interest to and studies in the various majors leading to the A.B. and B.S. degrees, which majors are at present: Economics, English, Chemistry, Education, Biology, Mathematics, Languages and History.)

NEW COURSES

AMONG the new courses offered for 1924-25 may be mentioned: English Drama, English Novel, Tennyson and Browning, Anglo-Saxon and the History of the English Language, Geology, General Physiology, Vertebrate Anatomy and Embryology, Genetics, Ornamental Trees, Shrubs and Flowers, and Landscape Gardening, Economic Botany and Zoology.

MAJORS

Every upperclassman and a large percentage of freshmen should decide on their major group of studies not later than Registration Day. A major consists of not less than 24 semester hours of work, not including required courses of the freshman year. Majors offered at present are: Business Administration, Music, Economics, English and American Literature, Philosophy and Bible, Biology, Chemistry, Mathematics, Modern Languages, History.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Every student is required to register for two hours of physical education work per year, during the entire four years. The general plan is to have all students work out their physical requirements in open-air games, except in cases where special corrective exercises may be necessary in the Lyman Gymnasium.

EXPRESSION DEPARTMENT

Mrs. Orpha Grey, A. B. (Oberlin) offers a variety of courses in Expression covering voice control and dramatic art. Courses in this department may be substituted for the required work in Public Speaking. These courses carry with them a nominal charge.

ART DEPARTMENT

Mrs. R. W. Newby, Instructor in Art, offers a number of courses as extras to those students who wish to do specialized work in this department. As in the Department of Expression, the tuition is in addition to the regular charges.

Herbert Thayer has moved from Babson Park to St. Petersburg. His brother, Raymond, expects to enter Rollins next fall.

Edna Borland, x12, of Ft. Myers, spent several weeks in July visiting one of her classmates, Mary Branham, '11, in Orlando.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Charles Pearce have announced the marriage of their sister, Mildred Lewis Pearce, ex-'18, to Mr. James Andrew Winfield. Mr. and Mrs. Winfield will make their home in Palatka.

Helen Waterhouse, ex-'20, is teaching in the Greenwich School of Music, of which Miss Marion Rous is the director. Another Rollins girl who teaches there is Kate Hadsell, ex-'19.

Helen Waterhouse, x23, who has been teaching music under Miss Marion Rous at the Greenwich Music School in New York, is spending the summer with her aunt, Stella Waterhouse, x93, in Maitland.

Among Rollins people assisting Miss Marion Rous at the Greenwich Music School in New York this summer are Miss Bertha Hart, former instructor in piano, and Frances James, x23.

John Evans, who attended Rollins during 1893-94, is now living near Lake Mary, Fla., some 6 miles from Sanford, and is engaged in the citrus industry. His nephew, Frank Evans, who was a student in Rollins four years ago, is in the dye business with his father in East Boston, Mass.

The Citizens Ice & Cold Storage Co., of St. Petersburg of which Leon D. Lewis, x21, is General Manager and Treasurer, will begin work immediately upon a half million dollar building program providing for a 100% increase in the present ice making capacity and cold storage facilities. This company was organized in 1912.

Department of Business Administration

(This page will include from month to month items of interest to and studies in the major offered by this department.)

DEPARTMENT REGULATIONS

THE courses given and the methods of instruction used in the Department of Business Administration are of such intensive nature that no student will be permitted to register for more than three courses in the department during any one semester, except in the case of seniors. In order to complete a major in this department it is necessary to have taken 80 semester hours.

MAJORS

Major groups of study offered in this department for the coming year are: (a) Professional and Cost Accounting, (b) Business Administration, and (c) Banking.

NEW COURSE IN REAL ESTATE

Through the cooperation of the Orlando Realty Board, J. S. Masek, Ph. B. (University of Chicago), will conduct, during the coming year, a three hour course in Real Estate. Due to the fact that there are such tremendous opportunities in Florida for the development of the real estate field, it is expected that this new course will prove to be a worthy addition to the Business Administration curriculum.

Prof. George A. Spaulding, B.B.A. (Boston U.), C.P.A. (Massachusetts), of Boston, Mass., has been elected to a professorship in the Department of Business Administration of Rollins College, according to an announcement made today. Associated with Prof. Spaulding in this department will be Assistant Professor R. E. Callahan, who conducts the courses in accounting, Instructor Martine Faust who is in charge of the Secretarial Science subjects and J. S. Masek, Instructor in Real Estate. Prof. Spaulding will conduct courses in advanced work that require experience in practical business and office methods.

Prof. Spaulding was educated at Bowdoin College, Maine, and at the College of Business Administration, Boston University. He was for several years at the head of important departments in the Bryant and Stratton Business College in Boston, one of the best American schools for practical business education, and has, consequently, been tested as an effective teacher of the most modern methods.

Prof. Spaulding has recently been connected professionally with the United States Rubber Co., the Grant Department Stores, and other houses requiring expert service. He therefore makes a considerable sacrifice to take up the constructive work of helping to build up the business administration department in Rollins.

ROLLINS SONGS

Don't send my boy to Southern,
A dear old mother said,
Don't send my boy to Florida,
I'd rather see him dead.
But send him down to Rollins,
It's better than Cornell;
And rather than to Stetson,
I'd see my boy in—

Chorus:

By-lo, my baby, baby, bye,
By-lo, my baby, baby, bye,
By-lo, my baby, baby, bye,
R-o-l-l-i-n-s, R-o-l-l-i-n-s!

Southern's run by millionaires,
Stetson's run by swains,
Florida's run by farmer boys,
And Rollins is run by brains.

Chorus:

Katherine F. Betts, x20, was married June 17, to Harold M. Holmes at the Betts home in Oberlin, Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Holmes are residing at 556 West 188th St., New York City.

Christine Hayward, former head of the Conservatory, is taking a post graduate course in the Massachusetts Institute of Music Pedagogy in Northampton.

The Conservatory of Music

(This page will include from month to month items of interest to and studies in the majors leading to the Bachelor of Music degree.)

PROF. C. L. Jaynes, of Delaware, Ohio, has been elected Director of the Rollins Conservatory of Music, the position created by the late Susan Dyer. Prof. Jaynes is a young man of intense musical education and great energy and will come to Rollins to build up the musical branch of the Rollins curriculum to an even higher standard than that already reached. He holds the A. B. degree from Ohio Wesleyan University and the Bachelor of Music degree from the Conservatory of the same institution. His graduate work in Music was taken at Eastman School of Music which is a part of Syracuse University, Rochester, New York.

Prof. Jaynes has studied extensively musical theory with Dr. William Berwold and Dr. George Barlow Penny. Much of his piano study has been with Dr. Adolph Frey and Raymond Wilson. He is an organist and pianist, a trained and experienced director of all kinds of musical organizations, and a teacher of the modern lines of musical theory and harmony.

Prof. Jaynes was for three years Director of the Music Department of Tusculum College after which he became head of the Conservatory of Cumberland University.

BACHELOR OF MUSIC DEGREE

AS in the past this will probably be, this coming year, one of the most popular of Rollins courses of study. Two courses may be taken for the degree: (1) the Artist's Course, with majors in voice, violin, piano, or organ, with special preparation for concert work or teaching in the chosen branch; (2) the Course in Public School Music, with special preparation for a career as supervisor of public school music.

PUBLIC SCHOOL MUSIC COURSE

Miss Edna Wallace, one of last year's instructors in the Conservatory of Music, will return to Rollins this year as head of the Public School Music Department. This is a work in which Miss Wallace has long specialized and her success in conducting it has been marked. In addition, she will direct the Men's Glee Club and act as Assistant to the Director.

VOICE DEPARTMENT

Miss Emmie Schenk, a native of Rotterdam, Holland, and a graduate of Cologne Conservatory with the highest honors, has been elected head of the Vocal Department succeeding Miss Jean Knowlton who has resigned. Miss Schenk speaks English, Dutch, French, German and Italian and has trained to sing the great productions of the famous masters. She has made a science of the study of the human voice and has been trained in solo, concert and opera work under many of the leading teachers of Europe.

MISS NILES HEAD OF PIANO DEPT.

Conservatory students will learn with much interest that Miss Lela Niles, who came to Rollins last year as head of the Piano Department, will return this year to carry on the excellent work she began last season.

An interesting clipping from a Bartow paper given below, refers, in its column "Thirty years ago" to Mrs. F. E. Ohlinger of Frostproof, a loyal Rollins alumna: "Sophronia Mitchell Carson recently returned home to Frostproof vicinity after her graduation at Rollins College, one of the first from the institution. Mr. Carson acknowledges himself as very proud of the young lady and her certificate."

Leon B. Fort, '09, has been appointed a member of the Orlando Utilities Commission, one of the highest honors to be given by the City of Orlando. Mr. Fort is one of the leading business men of the City Beautiful and he will be in a position to serve his city to great advantage in this new capacity. He is a member of the Alumni Council and also of Phi Alpha Fraternity.

Department of Pre-Professional Courses

(This page will include from month to month items of interest to and studies in the two and four-year pre-professional courses in Medicine, Law, Engineering and Theology.)

FOR STUDENTS WHO #### ENTER PROFESSIONS

THE majority of young men entering college on first thought plan to enter some profession. Whether this be law, engineering, medicine or teaching, it is necessary to take at least two years of specialized preparation in liberal arts. If possible four years of the college course should be completed. In the Rollins curriculum will be found, therefore, two and four year courses designed for the student who plans to enter the professional school.

TEACHING

For the young men and women who plan to teach or at least to prepare themselves for teaching, a four year course is planned with a major in Education. This course consists of at least 20 semester hours in purely normal subjects required by the State Department of Education. Upon completion of this course a Rollins graduate may teach 24 months without examination, and if his teaching is satisfactory over that period, a life certificate will be granted.

Members of last year's graduating class who have been granted these state certificates are: W. B. Johnston, Robert Donaldson, Eva Missildine Frances Montgomery Austin, Dorothy Darrow, and Nannie D. Harris. This certificate entitles them to teach from first grade through high school.

PERSONALS

DeWitt Taylor, x21, of Titusville, was a visitor on the campus July 2.

Mrs. Cowles Andrus (Emily Allen) is now living at 1462 Gilmer Ave., Salt Lake City.

Charles Fohl, x23, passed through Winter Park recently enroute to Titusville where he is engaged in engineering work.

Louise Cooper, former instructor in Physical Education, was married June 21, to Kelly Bruce Day. Mr. and Mrs. Day are making their home near Orlando.

Sherwood Foley, x21, of Winter Park, is spending the summer in the North.

Frances Foley, x27, recently underwent an operation at Johns Hopkins University.

John Rowe, x23, was a visitor to the campus June 25. He is now located at New Smyrna, Fla.

Marcia Converse, '24, after spending a brief time in North Carolina, has returned to her home in Akron, Ohio.

Robert Donaldson, '24, was a visitor to the campus July 6. He is at present assisting his brother at Southmere, Fla.

Kate Hadsell, x23, who has been teaching music in New York City, has returned to her home in Wauchula for the summer.

Mrs. William Chase Temple, honorary member of Kappa Epsilon and a generous donor to the college, passed away June 11, at her home in Orlando.

SCHEDULES FOR 1924

Freshman

The "Tar Babies" will begin their difficulties Oct. 4 in Winter Park when they meet the Varsity in the first game of the season. With the wealth of material brought in by the freshman class, the "Tar Babies" should measure up well. Among some of the men who have more than a good chance to make the team are: Paul Hilliard, 6½ ft., 153 lbs., half back or full back; Hubert Poole, 6 ft. 2 in., 174 lbs., full back or guard; V. A. Pope, 6 ft., 180 lbs., full back; Elbert Winderweeddle, 6 ft., 180 lbs., half back or full back; Philip Boardman, 5 ft. 8 in., 174 lbs., line; W. G. Evans, 6 ft. 1½ in., 185 lbs., guard or quarterback; George Bowers, 5 ft. 10 in., 140 lbs., end.

A road trip into Georgia on which the Freshmen will meet some of the stronger military academies of that state, is being arranged. Other games on the freshman schedule in this state are with the Florida Military Academy of Jacksonville, the Sacred Heart College of Tampa and the St. Leo College of San Antonio. The freshmen complete their schedule in Winter Park with one of the best drawing cards of which this state has boasted, the University of Alabama freshmen, on Nov. 22. Just what will happen when the Crimson Tide invades the shores of Lake Virginia is a question which cannot be decided before Nov. 22, though the game will be played many times before and after. Last year the 'Bama Rats defeated the Gator Rats 21-0.

THE VARSITY

The strength of the Tar Varsity of 1924 is not altogether certain. Because of the new regulations which Rollins will enforce this year, a number of strong players have become ineligible. Among the A-1 men who are eligible and who are returning are: Homer Parker, tackle, D. W. Potter, end, Harold Daniels, line, Wm. LaFroos, line, Herbert Thayer, guard, Robert Wilson, center.

The fact that Freshmen are eligible for the Varsity this year will raise the stock of the Tar Varsity to perhaps higher than it was last year. The Varsity will, therefore, combine the strength of both freshmen and upperclassmen.

The Varsity's first game will be with the freshmen on Oct. 4. Later comes a return game with Piedmont College mountain team of Georgia. On Nov. 11 the Tars invade Lakeland and meet their old time rivals, the "Methodists" of Southern College. Nothing has been heard of this team to date, but the expectations are that it will be stronger than last year and will make a decided stand to wipe out the sting of two successive defeats by the Tars. On Thanksgiving Day the Tars will entertain the Hatters of Stetson University, and the greatest effort of the entire year will be made to add a third victory to the record of the past four years. Last year's defeat, although close, does not remember well with the Tars. Later on the University of Havana and other Cuban teams will be met as usual, it is expected, in the Cuban metropolis.

Walter Fairchild is in business in Bristol, Conn.

May S. Hooker is doing secretarial work in Boston, Mass.

Margaret Burleigh, '08, of Tavares, visited the campus June 16.

Dean S. Pike, '13, and Mrs. Pike (Mabel Allen) have recently moved to 1008 Taylor Ave., Alameda, Calif.

W. V. Morrow, x09, is Editor of the Furniture Manufacturer and Artisan, published in Grand Rapids, Mich.

Joseph S. Jones, x24, is filling a three months' contract in Sulphur Springs, Fla., where he is with the Blue and White Orchestra of Lexington, Ky.

Lorraine Page, '24, is planning to leave for Europe shortly to take up post-graduate work in the University of Paris.

The Rev. E. D. Brownlee, Pastor of the Southern Presbyterian Church of Sanford, who received the degree of D. D. from Rollins last June, received a similar honor from Davidson College, leading Presbyterian institution of North Carolina.

Walter Johnston, '24, after spending several weeks at his home in Wisconsin, during which time he was best man at his brother's wedding, has returned to Winter Park. Mr. Johnston will be Instructor in Science in the Winter Park High School next year.

Everywhere, this monogram

The International General Electric Company carries products of American industry to every land, and brings back developments which foreign scientists have worked out. Thus, by a league of minds, peoples know one another better, and humanity moves forward with a swifter stride.

You may travel through a tropical jungle on a train which a G-E locomotive pulls; in an Oriental city you may drink water which a G-E motor pumps.

The sun never sets on this monogram; and wherever you find it, it is a symbol of service — an evidence that electricity is doing one more heavy task which men and women used to do.

CATHEDRAL SCHOOL FOR GIRLS

ORLANDO, FLORIDA

The Right Reverend Cameron Mann, D. D., President

---

Standard preparatory courses for young women.

Endorsed and approved by Rollins College.

The location and surroundings of the Cathedral School are ideal. Orlando is noted for its beautiful homes, its delightful climate, and its unusual record for healthfulness. The mild, pleasant weather enables students to spend much time in the open air, at all seasons of the year, thus permitting even delicate students to pursue study under health-giving and delightful conditions. The city lies on a high point in the center of the state, and is reached by two railway systems, the Atlantic Coast Line and the Seaboard Air Line.

The Cathedral School was founded in 1900 by the first Bishop of Southern Florida, the late Right Reverend William Crane Gray, D. D., and has become firmly established in public esteem, for its efficiency and its influence for good, thus justifying the vision of the Founder. Its purpose is to meet the needs of girls resident in Florida and the states adjacent, and also offer special attractions for girls from the North whose parents desire to have them spend the winter in a mild climate.

ROLLINS ALUMNI

Alumni and friends of Rollins will no doubt want to study the budget for the coming year and compare it with the figures of the past three years. The donations secured toward current expenses for 1924-25 so far are from the Congregational Foundation, $2,000, and from F. J. Frank, '96, $1,000. While the income figures are conservatively indicated, the only real source from which the deficit can be gotten is from donations toward current expenses. It is hoped that pledges may be secured from alumni to underwrite the Fortieth Year which is now opening.
