March 3, 1927.

The Faculty met in the President's Office at 3:30 P. M., President Holt presiding.

After the reading of the minutes, Dean Carrothers stated that seniors having deficiencies in their work had been notified in order to save disappointments and confusion at the end of the year. It was agreed that Mr. Daniels might continue as a conditioned senior, but that his diploma would not be delivered until he has met the conditions laid down in the catalogue. Doctor Sprague suggested that pressure be put upon Mr. Daniels. Miss McVea asked if a student was permitted to graduate here with a failure standing against him. After some discussion, the question was referred to the Bulletin Committee. Professor Georgia asked if it was customary for Rollins to confer degrees where the last part of the work was not done at Rollins. As an example, the case of Carolyn Mitchell was brought up and discussed, and passed by common consent.

Dean Carrothers reported that altho it had been agreed that no student should carry more than eighteen hours work without faculty permission, five students are now carrying nineteen hours. He recommended that because of their fine work they be allowed to continue. Miss McVea moved that the Dean's recommendation be adopted, seconded by Professor Weinberg. Motion passed.

The matter of speakers running over their time at chapel was brought up. Mr. Harris moved that all visiting speakers be informed that a red light would go on three minutes before it was time to stop. Seconded by Mr. Grover. Motion passed.

A long discussion of the possible adoption of the three term system followed. Mr. Jenks moved that the Faculty endorse the three term principle as the basis of work for next year, and that some appropriate committee - perhaps the Bulletin Committee - study the question of modifying the course organization with a view to concentration. The motion was seconded by Miss McVea and passed by the Faculty. It was decided to organize next year's work on the three term basis, using the number of hours we have now, changes to be made later.

The matter of offering a course in College Problems was referred to the Bulletin Committee.

The decision as to the date of opening and closing the College next year was left to the Bulletin Committee. A discussion brought out the fact that the Faculty unanimously favored enrolling students on the 26 and 27 of September and starting classes September 28.

Meeting adjourned.
