

Faculty Colleagues,

I write to remind you of our regularly scheduled meeting of the Arts and Sciences Faculty this Thursday, February 23, at 12:30 in the Galloway Room. The agenda will include words of information and remonstrations from Tom Quimby of the bookstore and announcements from Rachel Newcomb and others. In addition I am informed that there will be a motion from the floor expressing concern over the process used in selecting the candidate for Provost. Time permitting, there may also be substantive discussion of the upcoming vote at the All-College Faculty meeting and of our views on the proper course to be followed in selecting a new Dean of our faculty, should that post become vacant.

The usual refreshments will be served.

Please take a look at the attached Minutes from last month's meeting with an eye toward additions and corrections.

Look forward to seeing you at 12:30 on Thursday in the Galloway Room.
