Technology.....Mark Johnston

This discussion was a continuation of a previous discussion-involving student surfacing during class, the ability of faculty to be able to see what students are doing on their laptops during class, innovative technology that would offer the faculty more control over Internet capability while in class, and the implementation of new tools and training. Faculty and staff were reminded that technology committee that any faculty member may participate on that will create a specific agenda that will be reported to the faculty.

The faculty is strongly encouraged to manage the use of computers in the classroom. Students have been informed during orientations that they must comply with faculty directives concerning class participation and computer usage.

Restructuring Faculty Meetings.....Sam Certo

The suggestion was made to provide information about Center activities and committee reports before meetings so that time could focus on more strategic issues. Faculty meetings would be used to highlight Center issues and then focus more on learning, technology, curriculum issues and items that directly relate to the school and programs.

Experimental Course.....Ted Herbert

Ted Herbert introduced a proposal for an experimental course in Entrepreneurship. The name of the course is "Strategic Corporate Entrepreneurship". A motion was made to accept this course as an experimental course. The faculty voted to approve the motion.

Orientation.....Craig McAllaster

There is an opportunity for more faculty involvement in teaching at orientation. Those interested should contact Steven Gauthier to be learn more..

Faculty Data Sheets.....Craig McAllaster

J. Clay Singleton and Lynda Boyce are creating a Faculty vita data sheet that will standardize all vita cover pages for our AACSB accreditation effort.

Peer Review Committee.....Craig McAllaster

Edward Moses was voted as a member of the Peer Review Committee.

Adjournment.....Craig McAllaster

Meeting Adjourned 3:00 pm.
